Preface

The Public Accounts of Alberta are prepared in accordance with the Financial Administration Act and the Sustainable Fiscal Planning and Reporting Act. The Public Accounts consist of the annual report of the Government of Alberta and the annual reports of each ministry.

In October 2024 the government announced the update on the new ministry structures on continuing care and the health refocusing work originally announced in November 2023. The Minister of Seniors, Community and Social Services, Jason Nixon, became the sector minister for the new continuing care provincial health agency. As such, some responsibilities of the Ministry of Health were transferred to the Ministry of Seniors, Community and Social Services.

The 2024-25 Annual Report reflects the 2024-27 Ministry business plans, the Government of Alberta Strategic Plan, as well as the ministry's activities and accomplishments during the 2024-25 fiscal year, which ended on March 31, 2025.

The Annual Report of the Government of Alberta contains Budget 2024 Key Results, the audited Consolidated Financial Statements and Performance Results, which compares actual performance results to desired results set out in the government's strategic plan.

This annual report of the Ministry of Seniors, Community and Social Services contains the Minister's Accountability Statement, the ministry's Financial Information and Results Analysis, a comparison of actual performance results to desired results set out in the Ministry Business Plan. This ministry annual report also includes:

- the financial statements of the Office of the Public Guardian and Trustee, Estates and Trusts, for which the minister is responsible;
- financial information relating to Persons with Developmental Disabilities Clients Trust Funds;
- financial statements for Alberta Social Housing Corporation; and
- other financial information as required by the Financial Administration Act and Fiscal Planning and Transparency Act, as separate reports, to the extent that the ministry has anything to report.

All Ministry Annual Reports should be considered along with the Government of Alberta Annual Report to provide a complete overview of government's commitment to openness, accountability, and fiscal transparency.

Minister's Accountability Statement

The ministry's annual report for the year ended March 31, 2025, was prepared under my direction in accordance with the Sustainable Fiscal Planning and Reporting Act and the government's accounting policies. All the government's policy decisions as at June 5, 2025 with material economic or fiscal implications of which I am aware have been considered in the preparation of this report.

Message from the Minister

I am pleased to present the 2024–25 Annual Report for Seniors, Community and Social Services, highlighting our work to protect and support Alberta’s most vulnerable residents in partnership with community organizations, government colleagues, and valued stakeholders.

Albertans continue to face challenges in 2024-25 and I am pleased to say that my ministry has stepped up in a big way with key investments, services and supports to help Albertans in need regardless of ability, financial status or age.

Addressing the need for affordable housing continued to be an area of focus for my department, and our work is paying off. In 2024, we cleared the way for more homes to get built in the province, leading to a record-breaking year for housing starts. It resulted in the City of Calgary seeing the biggest drop in rental prices in Canada, and Alberta communities making up six of Canada’s top ten most affordable small and mid-size rental markets. We broke Alberta’s all-time record for the most apartment unit starts in 6 months, when the first half of 2024 saw 9,903 apartment unit starts. In support of this, we launched the Stop Housing Delays online portal to help cut red tape and get homes built faster. The ministry invested $395.5 million to build, renew, maintain, and operate affordable housing, including rent supplements. An additional $56.8 million was provided through the Seniors Lodge Assistance Program to address challenges faced by seniors housing providers. I look forward to continuing this momentum into 2025.

While we focused on getting more homes built faster, we continued to work with our partners to combat homelessness across Alberta. We invested an unprecedented amount into combating homelessness including the largest investment to address homelessness in Alberta’s history. We established 24/7 shelter services across the province and introduced Indigenous-led and women-only shelter spaces. We also established life-changing Navigation and Support Centres in Edmonton and Calgary, a one-stop shop for vulnerable Albertans to access a wide-range of social supports and services. The Navigation Centres have helped more than 10,000 unique individuals access supports since the first one opened a year ago.

We are committed to ensuring that Alberta continues to have the best disability programs in Canada. Our government is investing record amounts into supporting Albertans with disabilities, ensuring our province is the best place to live, work and raise a family. Last year alone we invested more than $3.5 billion in supporting Albertans with disabilities.

We also advanced the modernization of disability program applications by launching a user-friendly, accessible digital process for the Persons with Developmental Disabilities (PDD) and Family Supports for Children with Disabilities (FSCD) programs. This streamlined experience ensures applicants only need to share their story once.

Alberta has some of the most generous social programs in Canada and we continue to increase financial benefits for vulnerable Albertans. This includes indexing the Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped (AISH), Income Support, and Seniors Benefit to match inflation. We will continue to protect supports for vulnerable Albertans and ensure services are sustainable for future generations.

Rising living costs continue to put financial pressure on many vulnerable Albertans, including our seniors. We invested in several programs to support seniors so they can age with dignity and remain independent. This includes investment in initiatives like Healthy Aging, Drive Happiness, FCSS as well as improved and increased funding for seniors housing programs to ensure seniors lodges can continue to serve as vibrant community hubs. These investments help seniors age safely and independently in their homes and communities, enhance non-medical home supports, like meal preparation, yard work, strengthen caregiver supports and connections for Albertans caring for loved ones. This is in addition to our monthly senior's benefit. In total we allocated $517.5 million to support the more than 800,000 seniors who call Alberta home.

I would be remiss if we did not mention our collective efforts to support the recovery of the Town of Jasper following the devastating wildfire in 2024. In addition to wildfire fighting and suppression efforts, Alberta invested over $181 million to support Jasper's recovery. To support those displaced by the wildfire, my ministry provided $12.6 million in Emergency Evacuation Payments to help cover shelter, food, clothing, and transportation.

Finally, I was honoured to be named as the minister responsible for Assisted Living Alberta, a new public health agency focused on continuing care health services. Work is well underway to support this transition, and I look forward to reporting on our work in the near future.

These are just some of the key highlights and accomplishments from the past year. As you read through this report, you will learn about the collective efforts of our ministry, partners, and communities to support thousands of vulnerable Albertans and seniors. Together, we remain committed to ensuring all Albertans have the support they need to meet their basic needs, actively engage in their communities, and achieve their goals.

Management's Responsibility for Reporting

The Ministry of Seniors, Community and Social Services includes:

- Department of Seniors, Community and Social Services
- Citizen's Appeal Panel
- Premier's Council on the Status of Persons with Disabilities
- Family Support for Children with Disabilities Provincial Parent Advisory Committee
- Alberta Social Housing Corporation

The executives of the individual entities within the ministry have the primary responsibility and accountability for the respective entities. Collectively, the executives ensure the ministry complies with all relevant legislation, regulations and policies.

Ministry business plans, annual reports, performance results and the supporting management information are integral to the government's fiscal and strategic plan, annual report, quarterly reports, and other financial and performance reporting.

Responsibility for the integrity and objectivity of the accompanying ministry financial information and performance results for the ministry rests with the Minister of Seniors, Community and Social Services. Under the direction of the Minister, I oversee the preparation of the ministry's annual report, which includes the financial information, performance results on all objectives and initiatives identified in the ministry business plan, and performance results for all ministry-supported commitments that were included in the 2024-27 Government of Alberta Strategic Plan. The financial information and performance results, out of necessity, include amounts that are based on estimates and judgments. The financial information is prepared using the government's stated accounting policies, which are based on Canadian public sector accounting standards. The performance measures are prepared in accordance with the following criteria:

- Reliable – Information used in applying performance measure methodologies agrees with the underlying source data for the current and prior years' results.
- Understandable – the performance measure methodologies and results are presented clearly.
- Comparable – the methodologies for performance measure preparation are applied consistently for the current and prior years' results.
- Complete – outcomes, performance measures and related targets match those included in the ministry's Budget 2024.

As Deputy Minister, in addition to program responsibilities, I am responsible for the ministry's financial administration and reporting functions. The ministry maintains systems of financial management and internal control which give consideration to costs, benefits, and risks that are designed to:

- provide reasonable assurance that transactions are properly authorized, executed in accordance with prescribed legislation and regulations, and properly recorded so as to maintain accountability of public money;
- provide information to manage and report on performance;
- safeguard the assets and properties of the province under ministry administration;

- provide Executive Council, the President of Treasury Board and Minister of Finance, and the Minister of Seniors, Community and Social Services the information needed to fulfill their responsibilities; and
- facilitate preparation of ministry's business plans and annual reports required under the Sustainable Fiscal Planning and Reporting Act.

In fulfilling my responsibilities for the ministry, I have relied, as necessary, on the executives of the individual entities within the ministry.

Ministry Overview

The Ministry of Seniors, Community and Social Services supports Albertans through a range of programs and services in the areas of employment supports; disability supports; prevention of elder abuse; community well-being and resilience, including supporting seniors to live and age well in the community; housing stability and homeless supports; health benefits; and financial assistance programs. Seniors, Community and Social Services is committed to providing supports to Albertans and working to ensure those supports are delivered in a manner that is fiscally responsible and sustainable into the future.

In 2024-25, Continuing Care was transitioned from the Ministry of Health to the Ministry of Seniors, Community and Social Services.

The ministry is focused on achieving four outcomes:

- Outcome One: Stability – Albertans are safe and have timely and consistent access to supports and services to help meet basic needs and maximize their independence.
- Outcome Two: Participation – Albertans participate in their communities through employment, volunteerism and other opportunities to reach their individual potential and contribute to community life.
- Outcome Three: Inclusion – Albertans can access social services across the province that foster their resiliency and support community inclusion and diversity.
- Outcome Four: A modernized and re-focused health care system that delivers the highest quality patient care to all Albertans, including Indigenous Peoples, regardless of where they reside in the province, and is fiscally sustainable.

Note: Outcome Four, related to providing continuing care, was originally Outcome Two in the 2024-27 Health Business Plan. It was renumbered for ease of reporting in this annual report.

Organizational Structure

Operational Overview

Seniors, Community and Social Services aims to accomplish the four outcomes through the work of the department shown below:

Office of the Deputy Minister

The deputy minister oversees the ministry under the direction of the minister and is the liaison between the elected official and department staff. The deputy minister provides strategic advice, oversees the ministry's day-to-day operations, budget and program development.

Continuing Care

The Continuing Care division is responsible for developing provincial strategic policy, performance oversight, and licensing and compliance monitoring for all streams of continuing care programs and services which includes home and community care, supportive living and continuing care homes. The division leads continuing care policy through the development of legislation (i.e., the Continuing Care Act and related regulations and standards), strategic initiatives that enable innovation and transformation of the continuing care sector, and evaluation frameworks to identify performance expectations and governance structures for monitoring system performance. The division works extensively with other government ministries, Alberta Health Services, and other stakeholders to support Albertans to age with dignity in their communities, continuing care homes, or supportive living accommodation, with high-quality care services and wraparound supports that enable their independence and quality of life.

Disability Services

The Disability Services division is responsible for the delivery of legislated and non-legislated programs, services and supports to help children, youth and adults with disabilities to live and participate in their communities. Programming includes the Family Support for Children with Disabilities program, the Persons with Developmental Disabilities program, the Fetal Alcohol Spectrum Disorder initiative and Provincial Disability Supports Initiatives, which include the Alberta Brain Injury Initiative, Community Access for People in Continuing Care and Cross Disability Support Services.

The division works with stakeholders and communities to identify issues and to deliver supports and services to people with disabilities and their families. Disability Services supports the Office of the Advocate for Persons with Disabilities, the Premier's Council on the Status of Persons with Disabilities, and the Family Support for Children with Disabilities Provincial Parent Advisory Committee.

Employment and Financial Services

The Employment and Financial Services division is responsible for delivering career and employment services, overseeing operations of the ministry's 51 Alberta Supports Centres, the provincial Alberta Supports Contact Centre and the 24/7 Income Support Contact Centre. The division is responsible for the delivery and administration of financial and health benefits for over 139,000 Albertans accessing the Income Support and Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped programs. The provision of career and employment services includes managing contracts with service providers and delivering employment services, such as those available on the alis.alberta.ca careers, learning and employment website and through Disability Related Employment Supports. Employment and Financial Services administers the Child Support Services program, Alberta Adult Health Benefits, Child Health Benefits and conducts investigations to ensure the integrity of benefit programs. The division is also responsible for providing information, emergency benefits and delivering Emergency Evacuation Payments during natural disasters.

Housing

The Housing division supports the development and maintenance of affordable housing, as well as provides Albertans in need with access to safe and affordable housing options. The Housing division develops programs to support affordable housing and provides funding enabling housing operators to deliver housing that meets Albertans' needs. The division supports 60,746 affordable housing units that serve more than 110,000 Albertans. The division is accountable for Alberta's seniors' lodges, social housing (Family and Community Housing and Seniors' Self-Contained Housing), the Lodge Assistance Program, affordable housing agreements, Specialized Housing and the Rent Supplement Program. The division also implements the Indigenous Housing Capital Program and Affordable Housing Partnership Program. The division is also responsible for the Continuing Care Capital Program, which provides funding to create and modernize continuing care spaces.

Preventive Community Services

The Preventive Community Services division develops programs, administers funding and works closely with community partners to prevent and address a wide range of social issues including homelessness and to implement affordability initiatives such as funding for food security and low-income transit programs. The division oversees funding and the accountability framework for the Family and Community Support Services program, which partners with municipalities and Metis Settlements in delivering preventive social services. The division provides funding and oversight for the Service Dog program to support Albertans with disabilities to obtain a qualified service dog.

Seniors

The Seniors division develops and delivers programs and services to assist seniors and promote safety and well-being for Alberta's aging population. This includes the provision of supplemental financial assistance programs and services for low-income Albertans aged 65 and older to support their financial security beyond federal programs. The division promotes programs, policies and initiatives to address social isolation, elder abuse, older workers, caregivers, ageism, transportation needs and aging well in community. In addition, the division is responsible for community-based seniors serving sector development, administering community grants, supporting partnership and collaboration with stakeholders, and providing input on cross-ministry policies and programs to support seniors from a government-wide perspective.

Strategic Services

The Strategic Services division provides leadership to define and support the strategic direction of Seniors, Community and Social Services. The division is responsible for strategic planning, policy development and coordination, data and analytics, policy advice for decision-making, intergovernmental relations, and overall improvement of services. Strategic Services leads the development of modern and accessible digital services, develops and delivers provincial staff training, provides quality assurance oversight, offers governance oversight to Seniors, Community and Social Services Agencies, Boards and Commissions, and supports the Citizen's Appeal Panel in providing timely, fair, impartial and independent hearings for Albertans. The division also leads red tape reduction efforts, diversity and inclusion actions, business continuity and emergency response planning for the department, and accommodations and corporate security services.

The Office of the Public Guardian and Trustee reports through this division. The Office of the Public Guardian and Trustee provides personal and financial decision-making and certain complaint investigation services for vulnerable adult Albertans. It also administers the property of minor children and deceased persons, and provides information, education and support to the public, private guardians and private trustees.

Corporate Finance

Corporate Finance provides strategic financial advice related to legislation, regulations and policies. The division is responsible for developing the ministry's budget and forecasts, preparing and implementing ministry financial reporting, financial compliance and accountability, contract policy and management, and financial processes and policies to support the delivery of programs.

Communications

Through a service agreement with Communications and Public Engagement, the Communications branch offers strategic communications advice, writing and planning services. Responsibilities also include delivering clear and timely information to the public about the ministry's key initiatives, programs and services.

Human Resources

Under the "One HR" approach, Human Resources service delivery is provided by Public Service Commission staff assigned to support Seniors, Community and Social Services. The dedicated team provides strategic advice in employee and labour relations, occupational health and safety, workforce development and engagement. Leaders are connected to common human resource services such as recruitment, classification, policy development and analytics through service centres within the broader human resource system.

Legal Services

Legal Services is a team of Justice lawyers and staff that provides a full range of non-litigation services and related strategic advice to all areas of the ministry, including work on contracts, grants, procurement and legislation. For litigation matters, supports are provided by the Justice Litigation team and external counsel.

Alberta Social Housing Corporation

The Alberta Social Housing Corporation (ASHC) is a Crown corporation that holds social housing assets and distributes funds for social housing operating costs, capital projects and affordable housing programs. The ASHC receives funding from federal and provincial governments to assist housing operators in supporting affordability. The corporation is governed by a board of directors, which is chaired by the minister.

Key Highlights

The Ministry of Seniors, Community and Social Services focused on accomplishing outcomes identified in the 2024-27 Ministry Business Plan and 2024-27 Health Business Plan:

Discussion and Analysis of Results

Actions that support the priorities of the Government of Alberta Strategic Plan

Key Priority Two: Investing in Albertans

Objective Five: Supporting Albertans most in need

The following results contributed to supporting this objective:

- Providing financial assistance to seniors with low income. (page 18)
- Reviewing the Seniors Lodge Program to ensure it meets the needs of communities and seniors. (page 30)
- Increasing program efficiency. (pages 30-31)
- Modernizing the Persons with Developmental Disabilities program. (page 43)
- Enhancing community well-being with Family and Community Support Services. (page 49)
- Supporting the independence and well-being of older adults through the implementation of Alberta's elder abuse prevention strategy. (pages 51-53)

Outcome One: Stability – Albertans are safe and have timely and consistent access to supports and services to help meet basic needs and maximize their independence.

Supporting vulnerable Albertans with financial benefits, access to housing supports and emergency benefits ensures that all Albertans can meet their basic needs and maximize their independence.

Key Objectives

- 1.1 Continue to address affordability concerns of seniors with low income and vulnerable Albertans.
- 1.2 Provide funding to support food security for vulnerable and low-income Albertans.
- 1.3 Continue to implement the Action Plan on Homelessness through a recovery-oriented, housing-focused delivery model.
- 1.4 Continue to implement Stronger Foundations, Alberta's 10-Year Strategy to address affordable housing across the province.
- 1.5 Create a strategy for attainable and affordable housing focused on middle- and low-income renters and buyers.
- 1.6 Review the Seniors Lodge Program to ensure it meets the needs of communities and seniors.
- 1.7 Continue to modernize and digitize financial support systems to improve access, simplify processes and enhance service delivery for Albertans, to ensure sustainable, high-quality services are provided to those who need them.

1.1 Continue to address affordability concerns of seniors with low income and vulnerable Albertans.

Ensuring ongoing inflation relief

Seniors, Community and Social Services provides financial support to low income and vulnerable Albertans to help meet their basic needs through social benefit programs. Albertans who rely on social benefits continue to be affected by the increased cost of living.

On January 1, 2025, Seniors, Community and Social Services financial assistance program benefits were increased by two per cent to provide people who rely on these programs with additional financial support to meet their basic needs. By continuing to index these programs, vulnerable Albertans will have more resources to keep up with the increased cost of living.

Impact of financial assistance program indexing

Social benefits rate examples	Monthly rate prior to indexing	Monthly rate after indexing (January 2025)
Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped Living Allowance	$1,863	$1,901
Income Support Single Person
Expected to Work	$824	$842
Barriers to Full Employment	$959	$979
Income Support Couple with Two Children
Expected to Work	$1,746	$1,782
Barriers to Full Employment	$1,946	$1,986
Alberta Seniors Benefit
Single senior	$316	$322
Senior couple	$474	$483
Supplementary Accommodation Benefit
Minimum disposable income amount	$357	$365
Special Needs Assistance for Seniors
Maximum amount paid in a benefit year	$5,643	$5,756

Note:

Benefit amounts will increase with family size.

Providing financial assistance to seniors with low income

Seniors financial assistance programs support seniors with low income to meet their basic needs, afford essential health and personal supports, and age safely in their homes. In 2024-25, $517.5 million in grants and low-interest home equity loans were provided through seniors financial assistance programs to support approximately 194,500 seniors with low income to meet basic needs.

Seniors financial assistance program participation and expenditure

Seniors Financial Assistance Program	Description	Participation in 2024-25	Expenditure in 2024-25
Alberta Seniors Benefit	Provides financial support to eligible seniors with low income to assist with monthly living expenses, supplementing the Government of Canada's Old Age Security, Guaranteed Income Supplement, and Canada Pension Plan programs	194,500 seniors ¹	$401.8 million
Supplementary Accommodation Benefit	Provides eligible seniors with low income residing in a continuing care home with monthly disposable income of at least $365 after paying accommodation charges.	13,600 seniors ¹	$85.3 million
Special Needs Assistance for Seniors	Provides financial assistance to eligible seniors with low income to help offset the cost of some appliances, and specific health and personal supports.	24,000 seniors	$15.6 million
Seniors Home Adaptation and Repair Program	Provides financial assistance to eligible seniors for home repairs, adaptations and renovations through low-interest home equity loans and grants.	590 seniors	$6.1 million ²
Seniors Property Tax Deferral Program	Provides eligible senior homeowners the opportunity to defer all, or part of, their municipal property taxes with a low-interest home equity loan.	2,070 seniors	$8.7 million

Notes:

1. Average monthly participation over the fiscal year.

2. Includes both grant and loan expenditures.

Emergency evacuation payments in response to disaster relief

Approximately 17,550 Albertans were required to evacuate their homes in 2024 due to wildfires. Evacuees were able to apply for emergency financial assistance at alberta.ca/emergency using an Alberta.ca account, by visiting an Alberta Supports Centre or calling the Income Support Contact Centre. In 2024-25, Seniors, Community and Social Services provided $12.6 million in evacuation payments to over 12,273 Albertans, including 3,541 children.

Alberta Supports staff across the province were available during extended hours in the evening and on weekends to provide emergency funds by e-transfer and debit card to help with basic needs like shelter, food, clothing and transportation. Benefits were processed almost immediately due to system enhancements to ensure Albertans were able to cover basic needs. Alberta Supports was represented at local reception centres as Albertans returned to the community and ministry staff provided direct supports to community members impacted by evacuations in Chipewyan Lake, Fort McMurray, Fox Lake, Garden River, Janvier, Jasper and John D'Or Prairie.

Seniors, Community and Social Services collaborated with Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada to resolve additional challenges for evacuees from Jasper who do not permanently reside in Alberta. Evacuees were provided with emergency hotel accommodations immediately after the evacuation, and the Government of Alberta worked with municipalities to support evacuees and extend their hotel stays for several days.

The ministry implemented initiatives in 2024-25 to improve processes and better support evacuees, such as the integration of debit card tracking, postal code lookup with community maps, and proxy applications in My Alberta Emergency Payment System. Fraud prevention resources played a crucial role in helping staff identify and report potential fraud cases.

1.2 Provide funding to support food security for vulnerable and low-income Albertans.

Supporting food security for Albertans

As the price of groceries continued to be a challenge for many, Alberta's government ensured food banks had the resources needed to help Albertans. Local food banks and community organizations were critical in helping vulnerable Albertans and their families access food and put nutritious meals on the table.

Seniors, Community and Social Services worked in partnership with Food Banks Alberta to support the province's food bank network to have the capacity to respond to Albertans in need. In 2024-25, Seniors, Community and Social Services provided $2.2 million to Food Banks Alberta. This funding was instrumental in:

- establishing a program to support food banks during emergency situations;
- strengthening existing food redistribution and bulk purchase programs to ensure food banks can respond to Albertans in need;
- creating funding streams to assist food banks to purchase equipment (e.g., fridges, freezers, etc.) and cover unexpected shortfalls in core operating costs; and
- building capacity within Alberta's network of food banks to provide culturally appropriate food and respond to the needs of underserved communities.

Food Banks Alberta helped food banks enhance their ability to provide support to underserved communities, including translating documents into 12 languages to assist newcomers to Alberta to access food banking services.

Restocking the Jasper Food Bank

Through funding provided by the Government of Alberta, Food Banks Alberta provided extensive support to the Jasper Food Bank following the loss of its location during the July 2024 wildfire. Between August and December 2024, Food Banks Alberta provided 35,973 pounds of food worth more than $8,600 to restock the food bank.

1.3 Continue to implement the Action Plan on Homelessness through a recovery-oriented, housing-focused delivery model.

Implementing recovery-oriented and housing-focused responses to homelessness

Across Canada, the number of people experiencing homelessness has been growing in recent years. In Alberta, as in other provinces, homelessness trends have historically been impacted by provincial population trends, particularly provincial in-migration and affordable housing supply. In 2024-25, Seniors, Community and Social Services provided a total of over $223 million Government of Alberta funding to support homelessness initiatives in Alberta. Over $121.6 million of this amount supported initiatives from the Action Plan on Homelessness (shelter services) and Navigation and Support Centres in Calgary and Edmonton, while $101.7 million went to housing with supports programs in the province.

Addressing emergency shelter needs

In 2024-25, ministry funded emergency and longer-term transitional shelters operated nearly 5,000 temporary and year-round spaces located in Calgary, Edmonton, Fort McMurray, Grande Prairie, Lethbridge, Lloydminster, Medicine Hat, Red Deer, Wetaskiwin and 11 rural communities, listed in the accompanying text box.

Overall, there was enough shelter capacity across Alberta to support those needing temporary accommodation, even during the winter months. An average of over 3,900 Albertans stayed in homeless shelters each night in 2024-25. Shelter utilization between November and March averaged 85 per cent, with winter utilization averaging 83 per cent in Calgary and 87 per cent in Edmonton. Shelter utilization in rural communities during winter months averaged 58 per cent.

Supporting 24/7 shelter services

Alberta continues to maintain the Action Plan on Homelessness recommendation for 24/7 shelter operations. Providing 24/7 supports in shelters helps to better connect people experiencing homelessness to the supports they need during the day, such as referral services and access to recovery-oriented services including detoxification and treatment. In 2024-25, Seniors, Community and Social Services funding supported the 24/7 operation of over 4,500 year-round spaces in over 30 homeless shelters across nine Alberta communities and to support additional winter response shelter services across the province, including about 500 overnight spaces. In 2024-25, an average of 3,700 individuals received daytime shelter services per month.

Meeting the high demand for shelter services in rural communities

In 2024-25, Seniors, Community and Social Services provided funding for short-term shelter services to:

- Canmore
- Cold Lake
- Drayton Valley
- Edson
- Hinton*
- Lac La Biche
- Leduc
- Peace River
- Spruce Grove
- Strathmore*
- Rocky Mountain House*

Shelter Service Hub Pilot

The Shelter Service Hub pilot in Calgary, Edmonton and Grande Prairie provided on-site support and referrals for recovery services, primary health services, financial benefits, cultural supports and identification services. In 2024-25, shelter service hubs diverted over 900 individuals from using overnight emergency shelter services and were supported to identify immediate alternative housing arrangements. Shelter service hubs also made over 2,000 referrals and direct connections to cultural supports and approximately 40,000 engagements with primary health services, which can include referrals and direct health services. Shelter Service Hub funding will not continue in Calgary and Edmonton in 2025-26, as many of the services are now centralized at the Navigation and Support Centres, making those services accessible to more community members. The ministry will continue to support the Grande Prairie Shelter Service Hub in 2025-26.

Navigation and Support Centres

The Edmonton Navigation and Support Centre was established on January 17, 2024. Navigation and Support Centres provide a one-stop location for social services where vulnerable Albertans can access a wide range of supports from multiple Government of Alberta departments and community agencies, connecting them to income support, shelter and housing options, identification, health care, mental health resources and addiction treatment. On July 2, 2024, the Government of Alberta opened an additional navigation and support centre in Calgary to provide targeted support to vulnerable Calgarians.

As of March 31, 2025, the Navigation and Support Centres in Calgary and Edmonton have assisted over 10,000 individuals access a range of supports. In many cases, clients return multiple times to access services and bring people they know who are in need of help along with them.

Housing with supports programs

In 2024-25, Seniors, Community and Social Services provided $101.7 million to seven community-based organizations in Calgary, Edmonton, Fort McMurray, Grande Prairie, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat and Red Deer to support local projects that connect people experiencing homelessness with housing and supports. These programs support people experiencing homelessness to move into stable housing with wraparound supports to address the unique and complex issues that contributed to their homelessness. Wraparound supports may include addiction treatment, mental health services, employment skills training and rent support. Funded programs also work to connect people with recovery-oriented services, for those who need them.

Housing with supports program clients rely less on emergency public services and are better connected to income sources and community resources. Albertans receiving housing with supports are able to increase their self-sufficiency, with the number of people with employment and a source of income increasing as they leave the program. From April 1 to December 31, 2024, over 5,800 Albertans were supported by housing and supports programs, including nearly 1,000 Albertans who were newly admitted to housing with supports programs.

Achieving housing stability

In 2023-24*, 94 per cent of clients who received housing supports remained stably housed or exited to another type of stable housing.

*The most recent year for which full-year program data is available

Updating Alberta's approach to homelessness

In December 2024, Seniors, Community and Social Services announced an update to the approach to responding to homelessness and will streamline provincial housing and supports program funding by providing it directly to service providers. The ministry also announced an expert panel will be established to help shape Alberta's approach to combatting homelessness, with an increased focus on Indigenous people and rural communities.

Unsheltered Homelessness and Encampment Initiative

In December 2024, Alberta's government successfully negotiated a bilateral funding agreement with the Government of Canada to support the implementation of the Unsheltered Homelessness and Encampment Initiative. Through this initiative, the cities of Calgary, Edmonton, Lethbridge and Red Deer will receive $35 million in federal funding over two years, in addition to Government of Alberta investments. In 2024-25, Seniors, Community and Social Services allocated over $28 million of this federal funding to agencies to initiate multiple projects that include enhancing capacity in the homeless shelter system, creating long-term transitional shelter solutions specifically tailored to meet the needs of the unsheltered population, and augmenting support for existing outreach and/or system navigation initiatives that connect people with services they need to support recovery and long-term stability. This partnership between the federal and provincial governments is a significant step in helping the most vulnerable find safety, shelter and long-term solutions to homelessness.

Providing better support to women and Indigenous people experiencing homelessness

Seniors, Community and Social Services continued to fund services to support women and Indigenous people experiencing homelessness. In 2024-25, the ministry provided funding to shelter operators in Calgary and Edmonton to support over 400 women-only spaces.

Indigenous people experiencing homelessness access supports across emergency and transitional shelters, Navigation and Support Centres and through housing with supports programs. Over 280 shelter spaces are available year-round through Indigenous-led shelter providers in Edmonton, Grande Prairie and Lethbridge.

1.4 Continue to implement Stronger Foundations, Alberta's 10-Year Strategy to address affordable housing across the province.

Supporting affordable housing through the Stronger Foundations strategy

Stronger Foundations: Alberta's 10-year strategy to improve and expand affordable housing aims to transform the current housing system to support an additional 25,000 households by 2032. Of these, 13,000 will be addressed through the creation of new units and 12,000 will be through rent assistance. Since the launch of the strategy in 2021, Seniors, Community and Social Services has built an additional 3,300 new units and supported an additional 3,500 households through rent support. Key actions in the strategy include:

- supporting Albertans most in need;
- improving access;
- increasing capacity, planning and governance;
- enhancing sustainability and efficiency; and
- enabling growth and investment, including maintaining existing units.

The Government of Alberta, together with community partners, continues to support housing investments over the course of the 10-year roadmap. In 2024-25, Alberta's government spent $395.5 million to build, renew, maintain and operate affordable housing in Alberta through the government-supported affordable housing programs, including rent supplements. Actual spending was lower than budgeted primarily due to the reallocation of some funds during the fiscal year to address ministry priorities. In addition, a portion of funding was carried forward to align with capital project planning and construction timelines. The ministry supported a total of 798 new households, 388 new units and 410 additional rent supplements. Detailed reporting follows on pages 24-28.

Maximizing shared contributions with the federal government and municipalities

Seniors, Community and Social Services continued to maximize available federal funding and deliver cost-matched federal funding provided through the National Housing Strategy Alberta Bilateral Agreement. Alberta's progress under the bilateral agreement is on track to meet established targets and outcomes, which enabled the province to claim over $74 million in federal funding for affordable housing in 2024-25. Projects funded under Alberta's Affordable Housing Partnership Program and Indigenous Housing Capital Program are eligible for federal cost-matching through the National Housing Strategy Bilateral Agreement. Funding received through the National Housing Strategy was used to operate affordable housing, as well as construct, maintain and renew units.

In 2024-25, the Government of Alberta worked through the Federal-Provincial-Territorial Housing Forum to advocate for federal programming and funding that is allocation based, rather than application based. Alberta's interests were included in formal, multilateral Housing Forum correspondence to the federal government on current challenges, opportunities and requests to the federal government to address areas of high need, where existing federal programming has been inappropriate or absent.

Alberta's government works with the federal Ministry of Housing, Infrastructure and Communities, and the Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation to ensure that Alberta's priorities are addressed with respect to program and policy design and funding. Alberta monitors federal funding decisions closely to ensure that the province receives funding that reflects its population size and advocates to ensure federal programs are designed with maximum flexibility to account for jurisdictional differences in delivery capacity and areas of highest need.

Alberta's action plan for the National Housing Strategy guides housing initiatives in the province and explains funding allocations. The action plan reports on targets, outcomes and results from housing initiatives and programs. In 2024-25, Alberta joined other provinces and territories to advocate for a more collaborative relationship with the federal government and has stressed the importance of the federal government committing to continued bilateral funding for affordable housing in Alberta beyond the National Housing Strategy's anticipated expiry in 2028.

Alberta continues to strengthen its bilateral relationship with the federal government to more effectively navigate negotiations on bilateral agreements and share information on project specific issues. Alberta and other provinces and territories meet regularly to share best practices in addressing common points of contention with the federal government.

Increasing housing supply

Affordable Housing Partnership Program

The Affordable Housing Partnership Program fosters collaborative work and prioritizes the goal of making sure all Albertans have access to safe, stable and affordable housing. Bringing together partners, such as federal and municipal governments, and other housing providers the program supports growth and investment across the province. The goal of the program is to deliver affordable housing solutions that are customized to meet local community needs and increase the supply of affordable housing units in high demand areas. The program encourages development of mixed-income and mixed-use housing models, which will enable longer-term sustainability while increasing the number of affordable housing units available for vulnerable Albertans, including:

- seniors, individuals and families with low income;
- individuals recovering from addiction;
- individuals living with disabilities;
- individuals and families experiencing domestic violence;
- veterans; and
- Indigenous families.

The program provides up to approximately one third of the capital costs to eligible approved housing projects. The remainder of the funding comes from the project proponent, municipalities, donors and the federal government. In 2024-25, Seniors, Community and Social Services provided $15 million to support ten projects in four municipalities to create 259 new units. As of March 31, 2025, 20 Affordable Housing Partnership Program projects are committed to and ongoing for a total of 1,035 new units and 359 shelter spaces. Actual spending was lower than budgeted as funding was carried forward to future years to align with project milestones.

Indigenous Housing Capital Program

The purpose of the Indigenous Housing Capital Program is for the Government of Alberta to work with Indigenous governments and organizations to:

- increase the overall supply of affordable housing for Indigenous people in Alberta based on identified and verified needs within communities;
- ensure Indigenous households in Alberta with low- to moderate-income have access to affordable and adequate housing that meets their basic needs; and
- support housing design, delivery and ownership by Indigenous people.

In 2024-25, Seniors, Community and Social Services completed three housing projects under the Indigenous Housing Capital Program to create 37 new housing units. As of March 31, 2025, 15 projects are committed to and ongoing for a total of 496 new units.

Highlights of Indigenous Housing Capital Program projects completed in 2024-25

Supporting Albertans in need of housing

Family and Community Housing program

The Family and Community Housing program subsidizes rental housing for families, seniors and individuals with low income who cannot afford other housing options due to individual circumstances. In 2024-25, $79.9 million was provided for the Family and Community Housing program to support over 10,500 community housing units.

Seniors Self-Contained Housing program

The Seniors Self-Contained Housing program, which is part of the broader Family and Community Housing program, provides apartment-style housing to seniors who can live independently. In 2024-25, $40 million was provided for the Seniors Self-Contained Housing program to support approximately 14,300 self-contained units.

Specialized Housing Program

The Specialized Housing program is available to individuals who have specialized housing needs, including:

- individuals with developmental disabilities;
- individuals with physical challenges;
- individuals and families experiencing domestic violence;
- wards of the provincial government;
- the hard-to-house; and
- any other group with special housing needs.

In 2024-25, a total of $19.6 million was provided for the Specialized Housing program to support more than 2,000 units for individuals with special needs. The number of units fluctuates based on changes to annual agreements with operators.

Rent supplement programs

Alberta's rent supplement program provides a subsidy directly to tenants to help make market rental accommodations more affordable. There are two types of open benefits under this program.

The Rental Assistance Benefit (RAB) program is a long-term benefit that subsidizes rent for Albertans with low income. The benefit is available through most housing management bodies across Alberta and households are prioritized based on need. In 2024-25, the ministry provided $66.9 million for 38 housing operators to support 10,200 households through the RAB program. Compared to 2023-24, two additional housing operators participated in RAB and nearly 600 more households were supported.

The Temporary Rental Assistance Benefit (TRAB) program is a short-term benefit that subsidizes rent for working households with low income or those between jobs for up to two years. The program helps eligible tenants afford their rent while they stabilize or improve their situation. The benefit is available for households in Calgary, Edmonton, Fort McMurray, Grande Prairie, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat, Red Deer, and most surrounding communities. Households are prioritized on a first-come, first-served basis. In 2024-25, the ministry provided $5.2 million for ten housing operators to support 800 households through the TRAB program. Spending and uptake for this program was lower than anticipated, reflecting reduced demand relative to other available supports. Housing providers used the unallocated TRAB funding to address the higher need in the RAB program.

Housing Benefit for Survivors of Gender-Based Violence

In 2024-25, Seniors, Community and Social Services launched a new program to provide a rent benefit for households experiencing gender-based violence. $9.2 million was provided to assist 946 households fleeing violence.

Through the Private Landlord Rent Supplement (PLRS) program, funding is provided directly to landlords to subsidize Albertans with low income. As part of the Rent Supplement redesign and as funding agreements under the Canada-Alberta Social Housing Agreement expire, the program is being phased out and recipients are being transitioned to the RAB program, provided they meet eligibility requirements. In 2024-25, the ministry provided $11 million for 12 housing operators to support 908 households through the PLRS program.

Improving existing affordable housing units

Alberta's government is committed to maintaining existing units while continuing to invest in new homes. The Capital Maintenance and Renewal (CMR) program provides funding to protect the integrity of the existing government-owned affordable housing portfolio through planned upgrades, replacement and maintenance. In 2024-25, $37.1 million was spent in CMR investments, which included the repair and renewal of 10,354 units through 760 projects and $3.1 million was spent in CMR grants, which included the completion of 190 units through six projects.

As an action under the Stronger Foundations strategy, the ministry conducted a thorough review of the CMR process and is developing a maintenance and redevelopment plan for all government-owned assets. Improvements to the CMR process in 2024-25 included a new digital contract approval system and consolidating similar work to improve approval timelines. The implementation of the digital contract approval system has reduced the overall time from tender closure to contract award from an average of 14 days to an average of five days.

Prior to the Auditor General releasing the November 2024 Processes to Assess and Manage the Condition of Affordable Housing Performance Audit report on CMR processes, Seniors, Community and Social Services had already begun work on improvements based on recommendations previously identified by the ministry. In 2021, Alberta's government committed to reviewing and improving its approach to capital maintenance and renewal funding under the Stronger Foundations strategy action 5.3: develop a five-year maintenance and redevelopment plan for all government-owned assets and improve capital maintenance and renewal processes. The ministry initiated work on the maintenance strategy and engaged a consultant to review processes, get feedback from housing providers on how the system can be improved and develop a long-term plan for Government of Alberta assets.

In 2024-25, maintenance work concentrated on the health and safety of the tenants and residents, including installation of new roofs, water heaters, and furnaces, as well as renewal of building interiors. In addition, the government remains focused on making every unit available by funding suite renewals, health and safety repairs and ensuring the proper long-term asset management of the affordable housing portfolio across the province.

Responding to Housing Emergencies

The wildfire at Jasper National Park in July 2024 destroyed approximately one-third of the homes and businesses in Jasper, including Pine Grove Manor, an independent seniors living complex. In 2024-25, Seniors, Community and Social Services prepared a site which was given by the Town of Hinton to install 21 modular housing units for seniors. This interim housing will allow residents to remain close to their community together while the seniors' home in Jasper is rebuilt. Following the rebuilding of Pine Grove Manor these units will be used as affordable housing for the Hinton community.

The ministry also reimbursed the Evergreens Foundation for wildfire operating costs incurred for the Jasper wildfire related to displaced resident accommodations, travel and meal costs, totaling $951,965.

1.5. Create a strategy for attainable and affordable housing focused on middle- and low-income renters and buyers.

As the Alberta population continues to grow, Alberta's government recognizes the need for more housing options that meet Albertans' needs and budgets. The government has been clearing the way for more homes to be built faster, using a comprehensive approach that includes all levels of government, industry, non-profits, and the private sector required to speed up and unlock development, incentivize the building sector and better leverage funding.

Stop housing delays

Since launching in November 2024, the Stop Housing Delays web portal received 71 submissions about 33 communities across Alberta.

Seniors, Community and Social Services launched the Stop Housing Delays web portal to enable developers, municipalities and other housing partners to identify areas that are preventing fast and efficient residential construction. Through a collaborative, cross-ministry approach, the Government of Alberta will ensure the appropriate departments are working together to remove barriers to building homes.

Throughout 2024-25, the Government of Alberta continued to prioritize policies that help create affordable housing and restore housing attainability for Albertans. Seniors, Community and Social Services engaged the Ministry of Infrastructure to explore opportunities to use Crown land for housing developments. Seniors, Community and Social Services also worked with the Ministry of Municipal Affairs to exempt designated affordable housing from property taxes and reduce red tape in housing development.

Housing data in 2024 confirms Alberta is helping meet the housing supply challenge, which will benefit Albertans and help stabilize costs in the long run. Alberta led the country in housing starts per capita in 2024, with the province seeing a historic jump in the number of new homes under construction. In 2024, Alberta saw 46,632, which is a 32 per cent increase from 35,223 in 2023. The first half of 2024 saw 9,903 apartment unit starts – the highest in any half-year in Alberta's history, breaking the record set in 1977.

According to a January 2025 report by Rentals.ca, Alberta experienced the largest year-over-year decline in asking rents in 2024. Calgary saw the biggest drop in rental prices in the entire country, with Calgary's apartment rents decreasing by 7.2 per cent. Alberta communities made up six out of Canada's top ten most affordable small- and mid-size rental markets.

1.6 Review the Seniors Lodge Program to ensure it meets the needs of communities and seniors.

Improving the Seniors Lodge Program

The Seniors Lodge Program supports approximately 11,100 lodge units in 150 lodges and 18 unique homes and cottages across Alberta. The program provides services to residents, including accommodations, meals, laundry, housekeeping and recreational programming for functionally independent seniors. This represents an increase from the previous year, reflecting the addition of new lodges across the province.

The Seniors Lodge Review Panel provided opportunities for seniors housing advocates to share input to ensure Albertans living in lodges, and their families, have a voice in the process of reviewing the Seniors Lodge Program. In May 2024, the Panel submitted their final report with recommendations to the minister. Seniors, Community and Social Services began to implement improvements, including providing additional funding to respond to the challenges facing seniors housing providers.

In 2024-25, $56.8 million was provided to operators through the Lodge Assistance Program (LAP) grant to supplement the reduced revenue from housing 7,000 residents below the income threshold. The ministry raised the rate per eligible resident by 55 per cent, resulting in an increase of $15 million in LAP funding compared to 2023-24. The number of seniors served in 2024-25 appears lower than previous years due to the removal of a temporary COVID-era funding exemption when there were higher than normal vacancies in lodges. This exemption, which ended in 2023-24, allowed higher resident counts to ensure the sustainability of the lodge program. In 2024-25 the department removed the exemption and increased the grant rate to maintain support for lower-income seniors and the operators who house them.

1.7 Continue to modernize and digitize financial support systems to improve access, simplify processes and enhance service delivery for Albertans, to ensure sustainable, high-quality services are provided to those who need them.

Increasing program efficiency

Throughout 2024-25, the ministry continued to modernize the way services are delivered, providing a more personalized and improved user experience for clients, while reducing administrative burden on staff. A custom-built suite of digital solutions provided better access and self-service options for applicants and clients while ensuring ministry staff are working effectively and efficiently.

Contact centres

Seniors, Community and Social Services adopted a contact centre approach to support ongoing system modernization and provide more effective, timely and consistent services to Income Support and Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped (AISH) clients. Contact centres help ensure clients have access to timely assistance by connecting them to the next available Support and Financial Services Coordinator or AISH generalist instead of waiting to speak to their designated worker. This balances the workload of ministry staff and provides more consistent and effective services to Income Support and AISH clients needing assistance with their monthly, personal and health benefits. Throughout 2024-25, contact centres for AISH clients and service providers were launched in the South, Northeast and Northwest areas.

In November 2024, the ministry also implemented Call Back Assist to all contact centres. This technology allows callers the option to choose to remain on hold or have a call back without losing their place in the queue.

The Alberta Supports Contact Centre provided information and referral to over 490,000 Albertans on a broad range of government and community programs including, financial supports, housing, seniors programs, health benefits and other social programs. The Income Support Contact Centre, operating 24/7, answered over 130,000 calls and issued over 58,000 emergency Income Support and AISH benefits. Emergency benefits include food, shelter, transportation and prescriptions.

Calgary pilot for long-term Income Support recipients

The ministry initiated a pilot project in August 2024 to provide assessment and action planning support to approximately 1,178 long-term Income Support recipients in Calgary. Identified clients were registered for a mandatory virtual information session that provided an overview of job search expectations and related supports. Clients were then scheduled for an updated Employment Readiness Assessment to further understand their strengths and challenges with their job search. Using this information, ministry staff created action plans that outlined specific job search requirements, with employment targets set at 60 days. Participants also register for five days of job search-related workshops with a contracted service provider to support their activities. Where new Employment Readiness Assessments were completed, approximately 34 per cent of clients were recategorized as having barriers to full employment or other client categories based on their individual circumstances. As of March 31, 2025, approximately 351 long-term Income Support files closed, 20 per cent closed due to employment, with the remaining 80 per cent closing due to other circumstances, such as transitioning to other programs and services or non-compliance with the program obligations.

Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped and Income Support process improvements

In 2024-25, both the online AISH and Income Support applications received meaningful upgrades to improve how Albertans apply for benefits. Applicants can now use their Alberta.ca account to apply and if they are verified, they can provide their consent and declaration electronically, saving the applicant from needing to print, sign and scan their consent and declaration. Since the integration with Alberta.ca for these applications, there have been 21,613 applications received with digital consent for Income Support and 2,171 for AISH. This streamlined the application process for the Albertan, while verifying the identity of the applicant.

Case management

Seniors, Community and Social Services continued to modernize case management systems to simplify program administration, enhance consistency, drive efficiency, and reduce administrative burden for clients and staff. In 2024-25, the ministry added case management functionality for external service providers and enhanced Labour Market Transfer Agreement data flow to the Federal Government. As a result, the online application is now fully integrated to the case management system, reducing duplicate data entry and saving staff an average of seven minutes per application. With over 100,000 Income Support applications received per year, the time savings on this administrative task equates to almost 1,000 hours per month that workers can spend on higher value tasks to support vulnerable Albertans.

Supporting Albertans leaving correction facilities

Working in collaboration with the Ministry of Public Safety and Emergency Services, Seniors, Community and Social Services assisted Albertans leaving correctional facilities by providing information and support related to employment services, Income Support and AISH. Corrections staff engage with Alberta Supports prior to the release of a vulnerable Albertan to help them successfully navigate the application process post release. This process builds on a successful pilot in Edmonton and Lethbridge.

Connecting people with criminal records to employers

The Lethbridge Corrections pilot developed a database of employers in Calgary, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat who have job opportunities for people with criminal records.

Strengthening program integrity

Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped (AISH) file review pilot

In May 2024, Seniors, Community and Social Services launched the AISH File Review Pilot Project to verify that client information, including health and financial circumstances, is up to date. Over 15,000 file reviews were completed in 2024-25, averaging 1,672 reviews per month. The project ensures thorough file assessments, proper benefit allocation, and program integrity through enhanced transparency and accountability.

Data Enhanced Eligibility Determination

The Data Enhanced Eligibility Determination (DEED) initiative is enhancing program integrity and fraud prevention by leveraging data from internal and external systems to validate an Albertan's self-reported information. The initial DEED digital service was successfully released to a pilot group of Income Support staff in November 2024, with full provincial roll out in March 2025. DEED is a multi-year initiative that will be implemented in phases, with an initial focus on the Income Support program. It will support eligibility determination, both at intake and for ongoing eligibility and case management, by integrating and automating the verification of applicant and client data. This will reduce eligibility determination steps, support proactive and early detection of program abuse and ensure appropriate and accurate distribution of benefits to eligible Albertans.

Information sharing

In February 2025, an information sharing agreement was executed with Advanced Education which enables sharing of information regarding individuals receiving Income Support, AISH, Student Aid and Foundational Learning Assistance. This agreement will support proactive and early detection of duplicate benefits and potential program abuse, ensuring only those eligible for benefits receive the benefits for which they are entitled.

Appeals process

Albertans have the right to ask for an independent review of certain government program decisions and the ministry is committed to providing a fair, transparent, and effective appeals process for Albertans. In 2024-2025, there were 3,583 notices of appeals received, 1,894 hearings scheduled, and 962 decisions issued. The number of notices of appeals received in a year does not correspond to the number of decisions issued in that same year. After an appeal is filed, it may be withdrawn by the appellant or resolved by the program. Additionally, depending on when an appeal is filed, the hearing and subsequent decision may happen the following year.

In 2024-25, the decision writing tool in the System for Appeals Management was further enhanced so that AISH and Income Support decisions could be issued faster after the conclusion of hearings. To improve efficiency and accountability as appeals volume continues to rise, a new case management component was introduced to ensure appeals proceed in a timely manner. Albertans now have a direct point of contact for their appeal and can resolve preliminary issues faster.

Throughout the year, efforts were made to further improve accessibility to appeal services to ensure that all individuals, regardless of their circumstance, have equitable access to the appeals process. This includes refining processing, addressing emerging concerns, providing necessary accommodations for persons with disabilities, and liaising with community organizations to ensure appellants are able to connect with representatives and advocates to assist them with their appeals. In the North Zone, appeals administrative processes and hearings were centralized to ensure greater efficiency and consistent application of AISH and Income Support policy.

Preventing and detecting benefit program abuse

Seniors, Community and Social Services is committed to making sure every dollar spent on financial benefits goes to Albertans who are eligible for support. The Investigations Unit examines and evaluates complaints of system abuse, which include undeclared income or assets, providing false information, unreported spouses or dependents and identity theft. Complaints may result in a criminal investigation and possible charges if fraud is determined. The Investigations Unit supports frontline staff to apply proactive and preventive strategies to reduce the incidences of fraud. Albertans can report suspected fraud of social services programs by visiting <https://www.alberta.ca/report-suspected-fraud-of-social-services-programs.aspx>.

In 2024-25, the ministry received approximately 2,312 complaints from the public with 63 per cent related to Income Support, 36 per cent to the Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped program, and the remaining one per cent to other programs administered by the ministry. This breakdown of complaints is consistent with prior years. In 2024-25, the Investigations Unit accepted 1,084 new matters for investigation, representing a maximum total potential loss of $10.5 million to the Government of Alberta. During the year, 274 investigations were concluded, 109 of which resulted in criminal or regulatory charges being laid.

Performance Measure 1.a:
Median time between when an Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped (AISH) application is ready for medical adjudication and an eligibility decision is made (in weeks)

Prior Years' Results				2024-25 Target	2024-25 Actual
2020-21	2021-22	2022-23	2023-24
5.9	9.1	11.6	4.3	9.0	5.3

Source: Treatment of Income (TOI) System

Description: The Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped (AISH) program provides financial and health benefits to eligible adult Albertans who have a permanent medical condition that prevents them from earning a living. Program recipients may have a variety of disabilities, including physical, mental health and/or developmental disabilities. This performance measure captures the median time between when an AISH application is ready for adjudication (all documents required to confirm general and medical eligibility have been received from the AISH applicant) and when the medical eligibility decision has been made.

Rationale: This measure speaks to the ministry’s efforts to remove red tape and enhance service delivery for low-income Albertans with a permanent disability.

Results and variance explanation: In 2024-25, the result for this measure was equal to 5.3 weeks, reflecting a difference of 3.7 weeks from the 2024-25 target of 9.0 weeks, and an increase of 1.0 week from the 2023-24 result of 4.3 weeks. The increase in target for 2024-25 was due to increased application volumes and staff vacancies. The actual for the year remained within target range.

Performance Measure 1.b: Online Seniors Financial Assistance (SFA) Application Utilization

2020-21	2021-22	2022-23	2023-24
N/A	25%	38%	35%	45%	49%

Source: Seniors, Community and Social Services, Alberta Seniors Benefit database

Note:

The online SFA application method was introduced in March 2021. There are no historical results available to report prior to the 2021-22 period.

Description: This measure describes the percentage of first-time Seniors Financial Assistance (SFA) applications completed online out of the total first-time SFA applications received within a fiscal year. Online application methods include authenticated and non-authenticated applications. The measure excludes online applications from seniors who have previously applied through any method, and former Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped recipients who are automatically enrolled at age 65.

Rationale: This measure speaks to the ministry's efforts to reduce red tape and improve service delivery through fast and easy access, and efficiency in application and enrolment to SFA programs.

Results and variance explanation:

In 2024-25, 49 per cent of total first-time SFA applications received were completed online (8,309 out of 17,006 total first-time applications) which exceeds the target for the year. This result represents an increase of 14 percentage points compared with the 2023-24 result. Factors which contributed to a higher rate of online SFA online applications include increasing promotion of the online applications through the information package sent to Albertans six months before they turn 65, and promoting online options to program stakeholders supporting seniors. Albertans with verified MyAlberta Seniors accounts are able to apply for seniors financial assistance programs online, view and update banking and personal information, view payment and claim history, securely upload documents and check on the status of applications. The Canada Post strike for parts of November and December 2024 also had impact on increasing the number of online applications, as many seniors chose to apply online rather than through the paper-based method during this time.

Performance Measure 1.c:
New Affordable Housing Units and Rental Subsidies Available for Albertans with Low Income

Prior Years' Results				2024-25 Target	2024-25 Actual
2020-21	2021-22	2022-23	2023-24
N/A	2,243	2,325	2,302	1,500	798

Source: Seniors, Community and Social Services; HOME system

Note:

This measure was introduced in the 2022-25 Seniors and Housing Business Plan. Due to variation in data collection and processing, comparable historical results are not available prior to the 2021-22 period.

Description: This measure reports on the number of new affordable housing units and new rental subsidies the ministry has funded or supported for Albertans in need within a fiscal year. The results of this measure include newly built affordable housing units across five capital programs and additional households supported under the Rent Supplement program (including the Housing Benefit for Survivors of Gender-Based Violence, which launched in 2024-25).

Rationale: This measure is a direct reflection of progress made toward achieving the goal of supporting 25,000 more households by 2032-33 set out in Stronger Foundations: Alberta's 10-year strategy to improve and expand affordable housing.

Results and variance explanation: In 2024-25, the ministry delivered 798 new affordable housing units and new rental subsidies to Albertans with low income. The result reflects the timing and status of capital builds as most of the capital projects are currently under construction and in progress that will be coming online in future years. As of March 31, 2025, 1,626 units and 359 shelters spaces are in progress. In addition, the results reflect rising rent prices and corresponding increases in the maximum benefit available have led to higher individual benefits. As a result, more funds are allocated to ensure households already in the program are able to maintain their housing, leaving fewer resources available to expand to new households. The government has increased the funding for both affordable housing capital projects and rent assistance moving forward.

Affordable housing breakdown

	2023-24	2024-25
Newly built units	641	388
Additional households supported though Rent Supplements	1,661	410

Outcome Two: Participation – Albertans participate in their communities through employment, volunteerism and other opportunities to reach their individual potential and contribute to community life.

Ensuring Albertans can access employment and fully participate in their community promotes individual prosperity and Alberta's economy.

Key Objectives

- 2.1 Provide career and employment information services to improve employment outcomes of Albertans experiencing underemployment and unemployment.
- 2.2 Provide supports for adults and children with disabilities and their families through enhanced cross-sector coordination, innovative best practices and modernization.
- 2.3 Implement the cross-ministry Fetal Alcohol Spectrum Disorder (FASD) Strategic Plan 2024-2027 to ensure effective supports for Albertans impacted by FASD.
- 2.4 Provide funding to support access to transportation services for low-income and vulnerable Albertans.

2.1 Provide career and employment information services to improve employment outcomes of Albertans experiencing underemployment and unemployment.

Supporting Albertans to get back to work

Seniors, Community and Social Services programs helped Albertans make informed career decisions, develop realistic education, training and employment plans and prepare for, find and keep jobs in their communities. Services provided include individual employment assistance, provision of employer events, job fairs and workshops, community referrals, financial support for employment related supports and, helping them access and use local labour market information. The goal is to help individuals and families gain independence by providing opportunities to enhance their skills to obtain employment.

Career and Employment Information Services

In 2024-25, Seniors, Community and Social Services invested $81 million in Career and Employment Information Services (CEIS), which included partnership-driven career and employment service centres that target underemployed and unemployed Albertans, including vulnerable and underrepresented populations in the labour market. Targeted employment services are provided for:

- youth to connect with job opportunities and obtain strategies to gain work experience;
- persons with disabilities to provide accessible equipment and tools and strategies to disclose disabilities with employers and to gain employment experience;
- immigrants to access services in multiple languages;
- internationally educated professionals to secure employment and gain accreditation;
- Indigenous and Francophone individuals to connect to employment; and
- Albertans accessing the Income Support program.

Simulated worksite projects offered through CEIS improved participants skills and knowledge through programming that replicates workplace experiences by allowing clients to immerse themselves in realistic worksite activity. These sites enhance real-work experiences, expanding opportunities for clients facing barriers such as lack of experience, or requiring further training to connect to work.

Primary Career and Employment Information Services accessed in 2024-25 (by percentage)¹

Primary Career and Employment Information Services offered

Assessment and Referral	gathers information about an individual's strengths, needs, and barriers and provides a foundation for determining the programs and services that may be most helpful for the individual in moving towards sustainable employment.
Exposure Courses	provide job-ready individuals with funding for short-term courses to gain the certification and/or job-specific skills they need, such as first aid or basic computer skills.
Job Placement	helps individuals who have the knowledge, skills and attitudes needed for employment but need support to develop or refine job search skills, make connections to employers and maintain employment.
Disability Related Employment Supports	provides funds for assistive technologies and aids (e.g., specialized computer software) and assistive services (e.g., tutors and job coaches) and worksite modifications (e.g., wheelchair ramps) for persons with disabilities to be successful in their education, job search and employment.
Specialized Assessment	conducts an in-depth analysis of an individual's educational, vocational, medical, intellectual and psychological capabilities. This is used to determine accommodations or supports required to enable them to find and maintain employment.
Feepayer	allows individuals to request continued regular Employment Insurance benefits while in training. Feepayers are responsible to pay for the costs of their training, including tuition, books and supplies.
Workforce Development	supports individuals who have encountered barriers obtaining or maintaining employment through employment development activities and paid work exposure.
Employer Services	support employers to find appropriate staff to meet their present and future workforce demands through the provision of employer services.

Virtual delivery of the primary services is offered to ensure access for individuals who may not be able to attend in-person due to barriers such as childcare or transportation challenges.

In 2024-25, 45,146 unique Albertans accessed CEIS programs and services. There was a total of 701,724 walk-in visits to resource centres, and 2,958 Albertans who attended community presentations and fairs. Over 6,000 Albertans accessed job search and career support through the Alberta Supports Contact Centre and Career and Employment contact centres. Through grants to Alberta Chamber of Commerce, 57 hiring events were held across the province, connecting over 28,000 job seekers with 800 businesses and 305 community partners.

The Work Outcomes Reporting Project (WORP) survey is conducted with individuals three months after they participated in CEIS. In 2024, 75 per cent of Albertans were satisfied or very satisfied with the CEIS services they received. Through the WORP survey, 67 per cent of Albertans reported they had found employment three months after receiving Career and Employment Information Services (i.e., workshops, exposure courses, job placements and Disability Related Employment Supports).

Enhanced employment focus

The Income Support program provides financial benefits to individuals and families who do not have the resources to meet their basic needs, including food, clothing and shelter. Income Support consists of two client categories: Expected to Work (ETW) and Barriers to Full Employment (BFE). The ETW category includes those who are searching for work, working but not earning enough income to meet their basic needs, or are temporarily incapable of working. The BFE category includes those who have multiple barriers or persistent mental or physical health challenges that make obtaining employment take longer and require more supports. Both ETW and BFE caseloads are composed of single individuals, single-parent families, couples with children and couples without children.

In 2024-25, the Income Support program experienced an overall increase in caseloads, supporting an average of 55,849 cases per month. This represents an increase of 15.4 per cent from the prior year. The average ETW caseload was 38,002, which is 21.6 per cent higher than 2023-24. Higher ETW caseloads are likely the result of a combination of factors including an increase in the overall population of Alberta, a higher unemployment rate in the province and increases in the cost of living, including food and housing. The average monthly BFE caseload increased by 4.1 per cent over the past year to 17,847 from 17,145 in 2023-24.

Alberta Supports regional Employment Hubs provide tailored services to Income Support clients closest to employment. The Hubs' goal is to successfully prepare Albertans to enter the labour market using various events including job fairs, employment sessions, employer events and one-on-one services to employers requiring workers. Dedicated Career and Employment Consultants work with those closest to the labour market to provide tailored services and supports to attach them to meaningful employment within one to two months of assistance. Employment Hub case managers work closely with employers, workforce consultants, and contracted providers with an intentional approach and focus to move clients with barriers closer to the labour market.

In March 2024, Seniors, Community and Social Services implemented Phase 1 of the Negotiated Accountability Plan approach across the province, focusing on clients who are closest to employment. Negotiated Accountability Plans are dynamic sets of practices designed to support accountability for action plans and support Income Support clients taking steps toward independence. This active practice of client accountability is dependent on client participation in program obligations. It includes acknowledgment of action plan items and timelines, orientation sessions, job clubs, job search record-keeping and proactive access to supports with a mutually agreed upon end date and intentional monitoring of client progress. For the 2024-25 fiscal year, the average duration for a file with a Negotiated Accountability Plan was 90 days.

Career and Employment Consultants continued throughout 2024-25 to actively work with employable Ukrainian Evacuee Emergency Financial Support recipients to help them secure employment.

Employment supports for Albertans with disabilities

In 2024-25, $22.1 million was invested specifically to provide career and employment services to Persons with Disabilities. This funding supports the delivery of Specialized Assessments, employment development, job placements, workplace supports, Disability Related Employment Supports (DRES), Workplace Exposure and work maintenance supports.

DRES provides funding for supports and services that help Albertans overcome disability related barriers to employment or education. In 2024-25, one third of the approved DRES applications were for Job Search Supports, 29 per cent were for Education and Training Supports and 38 per cent were for Workplace Supports. The average cost per DRES application was $5,634. These supports assisted Albertans to obtain the skills and training needed for employment and to find and maintain meaningful employment.

Employment Services Delivery Model transformation

Seniors, Community and Social Services continued to transform the Employment Services Delivery Model to provide Albertans with improved employment and career development opportunities while streamlining client navigation towards employment. The transformation evolves how employment service contracts and grants are structured, with an increased focus on outcomes monitoring. Throughout the transformation, case management practices seamlessly connect clients to available training and employment resources and opportunities with an internal and external service delivery mix.

The Digital Employment Services Pilot, using the Thrive Career Wellness platform, was officially launched in March 2024. The platform provides enhanced tools for job seekers, including resume development, job matching, career planning, and training resources. The pilot began with a select group of Career and Employment Consultants making referrals of individuals they were serving on the Income Support caseload. Since the launch, the pilot has incrementally expanded to a wider population of job seekers across multiple regions and program areas, improving access for job seekers outside the initial pilot areas ensuring more Albertans benefit from digital employment services. Ongoing enhancements were made to the Digital Employment Services Platform job search throughout 2024-25, including self reporting of job attainment and the addition of an AI-driven resume builder. At the end of the 2024-25 fiscal year, the Thrive platform was serving more than 1,400 job seekers.

Alis

The alis.alberta.ca (alis) website provides employment resources to help Albertans enhance their employability, plan for education and training, make informed career choices, and connect to and be successful in the labour market. In 2024-25, Albertans accessed alis through 4.1 million web sessions and 15.4 million page views.

In 2024-25, the department continued to enhance the alis website with updated labour market information, new career advice content, new career planning tools, and improved functionality such as enhancements to the Find Your Fit personalized career recommendation tool.

Supporting labour attraction

In 2024-25:

- 61 per cent of alis visits came from within Alberta;
- 18 per cent of alis visits came from elsewhere in Canada; and
- 21 per cent of alis visits came from outside Canada.

Increasing engagement with employers

Employer Services Grants

Seniors, Community and Social Services provided $3.8 million in grants to employers across the province in 2024-25 to find, onboard, develop and retain staff. The intended outcomes of employer services grants include:

- a decrease in vacant, challenging-to-fill positions and a reduction of individuals relying on Income Support benefits;
- an increase in new hires and/or the retention of staff as a result of received services;
- increased employer awareness of the tools and resources available to them to assist with their workforce demands (both those provided as a part of the program as well as those that are external to it);
- increased employer knowledge and skills on recruitment, onboarding, training and retention that will help them to minimize costs while promoting inclusive hiring and ensuring skill shortages are met; and
- a growing network between employers and stakeholders such as service providers, community organizations, job seekers and associated ministries so that experience, knowledge and resources can be leveraged to employees, employers and jobseekers.

The range of services provided employers assistance with job description development, resume evaluation and immediate hiring, as well as refinement of recruitment practices to improve staff retention. During 2024-25, over 8,096 employers accessed supports funded by the ministry to assist in meeting their workforce demands resulting in over 861 individuals being hired.

Improving employer engagement skills

Participants in EEE and LEE reported improvements in their employer engagement skills, including:

- 86 per cent feeling they can target employers more effectively;
- 83 per cent having a greater understanding of why and how to maintain employer relationships;
- 77 per cent can now gain a thorough understanding of job vacancies for their clients;
- 76 per cent feel better equipped to present their clients to employers; and
- 93 per cent feel confidence in placing more clients in sustainable employment.

Employer Engagement Training

Effective Employer Engagement (EEE) and Leading Employer Engagement (LEE) training strengthen employer engagement and labour market connections. Piloted in 23-24 with 15 service providers in the Edmonton region, EEE and LEE received positive feedback and results. In 2024-25, both EEE and LEE were expanded to be available across the province and open to all Career and Employment Information Services contracted providers.

Service providers are selected to participate based on the demographics they serve, industry specialization and service delivery area to ensure representation from diverse populations and industries in both urban and rural settings.

In 2024-25, 307 staff members from 38 service provider organizations enrolled in the EEE and LEE training programs. Completion rates surpassed expectations, with 88 per cent of participants successfully completing the EEE training and 89 per cent completing the LEE training—exceeding the initial goal of 80 per cent. Demand for these programs remains high, with 58 individuals currently on the waitlist for the next cohort intake.

Service providers reported that they improved how they engage with employers based on what they learned in the training, leveraging practical tools to enhance processes, and feel more confident in maintaining clear, consistent communication with targeted employers.

2.2 Provide supports for adults and children with disabilities and their families through enhanced cross-sector coordination, innovative best practices and modernization.

Modernizing the Persons with Developmental Disabilities program

The Persons with Developmental Disabilities (PDD) program helps eligible adults plan, coordinate and access services to live as independently as possible in their communities. The program works with eligible adults to provide support services such as home living supports to help with daily activities, respite care, community access supports, education and employment supports and specialized support to help with additional needs due to mental health and behavioural issues.

The ministry provided over $1.2 billion in funding for PDD in 2024-25. The PDD program caseload increased by 1.8 per cent in 2024-25, from 13,401 at the end of March 2024 to 13,641 in March 2025. This growth continued to be influenced by:

- population growth which has shown an increase in individuals with disabilities in the general population;
- increasingly complexity of needs; and
- change in circumstances resulting in increased supports to address the emergent needs of individuals already on active caseload.

Digital tools

Seniors, Community and Social Services launched a digital application for PDD in June 2024, providing Albertans with a user friendly, accessible application that minimizes errors and improves the completeness and accuracy of the application. Individuals are now able to check their eligibility for the PDD program, submit supporting documents online and save their application so they can come back to it later. Ministry staff are also able to initiate applications on behalf of a PDD individual when requested by the individual or their guardian. The new application provides for more consistent experiences for Albertans and ministry staff across the province using a streamlined and secure platform.

PDD digital application features

The new application makes applying for PDD easier for Albertans by:

- allowing upload of documents when submitting an application;
- providing alerts and notifications when information is missing or is inaccurate; and
- ensuring applicant is provided with more information upfront so that they don't have to continue with the application if they don't meet the general eligibility.

The new application platform reduces administrative burden by removing manual data entry. It also saves time for staff who previously had to go back and forth with applicants to complete the application prior to forwarding it for eligibility determination. The Adaptive Skills Inventory was released in February 2025 which provides a dynamic digital tool replacing a pdf form. This new tool enhances usability for ministry staff and reduces the number of steps required to share the information received from the applicant and their supporters, ensuring a PDD applicant only needs to tell their story once.

Enhancing needs assessments

In November 2024, the ministry implemented improvements to how needs are assessed for those accessing the PDD program, including the development of a new online tool for caseworkers to support assessment and case management. This was based on work completed in 2022 by an Action Committee consisting of service provider organizations, academia, and government to co-develop a made-in-Alberta approach to assessment. This Action Committee also considered findings and recommendations from the 2021 PDD Steering Committee. The new assessment of needs process takes a flexible approach to gathering information and focuses on individual's unique circumstances, needs, aspirations, and strengths to complete planning for appropriate supports and resources available to the individual. It also assists with PDD case management to better understand what supports may be required and individuals' existing supports and resources such as guardians, family, friends, and access to other community or government programs.

Complex service needs reviews

The ministry has been contracting a third-party to conduct complex needs reviews to inform continuous improvement of ministry programs and ensure individuals with complex service needs receive effective support and services. Individuals with Complex Service Needs (CSN) designations are defined in PDD policy as posing a significant risk, and/or are destructive to themselves, others, or property. Approximately 10 per cent (or 1,350) of the total PDD caseload is identified as having CSN (2024-25).

Complex needs reviews increase understanding of best practices when supporting individuals with complex service needs and encourage better communication, collaboration and service coordination with individuals, families, guardians, services providers and other ministries. A total of 82 reviews have been completed since the pilot began in 2022. The department works with the service providers and individuals to address any findings coming out of each individual review and to address areas for improvement or best practices that could be applied across the CSN caseload, including working with other government departments to improve access to other supports such as mental health and addictions support.

Improving the Family Supports for Children with Disabilities program

The Family Supports for Children with Disabilities (FSCD) program is a legislated program that works with families of eligible children with disabilities to provide support and services based on each child and family's needs. It provides a wide range of proactive supports and services that are individualized to each eligible child and their family, such as counselling, respite and behavioral and developmental supports. The goal of the program is for families to have the skills, support and resources required to care for and promote their child's development and participation at home and in their communities.

The ministry invested $259 million in the FSCD program in 2024-25. As at March 2025, the active FSCD caseload was 18,535.

Family Supports for Children with Disabilities program improvements

A new digital platform for the FSCD policy manual was launched in June 2024 to improve accessibility and navigation, providing a more user-friendly experience for Albertans and FSCD staff.

In January 2025, service agreements were moved into the new case management system to simplify the process of creating and approving agreements that outline the supports and services available to a family. This improvement reduces administrative time for caseworkers, leaving more time to work with families who need their support.

Addressing FSCD program audit recommendations

In April 2022, Seniors, Community and Social Services accepted recommendations from the Auditor General's performance review of the FSCD program and committed to addressing the findings of the audit. The ministry has:

- reviewed and updated guides to promote clarity and increase consistency when staff use judgement to assess needs and complete support planning;
- further developed the program training and oversight processes to ensure staff obtain the necessary skills and knowledge to complete the assessment of needs and support planning consistency; and
- improved caseworker oversight processes to increase the consistency of the assessment of needs and support planning processes.

The ministry has informed the Auditor General the recommendations have been addressed and are ready for a follow-up assessment of implementation.

Supporting people with disabilities through Family Resource Centres

Family Resource Centres help individuals with disabilities and their families to access and navigate the variety of disability supports and services available in Alberta. In 2024-25, $412,000 was provided to four Family Resource Centres across six regions of Alberta:

- Easter Seals Alberta Society – Calgary and Southern Alberta;
- Gateway Association – Edmonton;
- STEPS Society of Red Deer – Central Alberta; and
- WJS Canada – Northeast and Northwest Alberta.

This funding supported 2,439 families with services including workshops on a variety of topics to assist individuals and families in accessing services in their agreements, as well as general navigation and information supports to Albertans.

2.3 Implement the cross-ministry Fetal Alcohol Spectrum Disorder (FASD) Strategic Plan 2024-2027 to ensure effective supports for Albertans impacted by FASD.

Fetal Alcohol Spectrum Disorder Service Networks

Fetal Alcohol Spectrum Disorder (FASD) is a lifelong disability, which may occur when a developing baby is exposed to alcohol during pregnancy. The Government of Alberta focuses on developing and delivering community-based solutions, making it easier for people affected by FASD to get the help they need, at any point during their life.

Twelve regionally based FASD Service Networks deliver FASD awareness, prevention, assessment and diagnosis and support services for individuals with FASD, their families and caregivers across the province. These community-led and community-driven FASD Service Networks have each designed a model of service delivery to meet the unique needs of the individuals and families in their region. The continuum of services provided by the FASD Service Networks are respectful of community and cultural diversity, including First Nations, Métis, Inuit and immigrant populations.

In 2024-25, the ministry invested approximately $27.6 million for FASD supports and services. During the year, approximately 5,900 individuals, their families and caregivers received supports and services through the FASD Service Network.

The Alberta FASD Strategic Plan 2024-27 was finalized in 2024, in collaboration with 10 cross-ministry partners including Advanced Education, Children and Family Services, Education, Health, Indigenous Relations, Justice, Mental Health and Addiction and Public Safety and Emergency Services. External organizations, such as Alberta Health Services and Alberta Gaming, Liquor and Cannabis, were also engaged.

The implementation of action items with cross-ministry partners is currently underway. This includes the establishment of an improved cross-ministry process to enhance strategic plan collaboration.

2.4 Provide funding to support access to transportation services for low-income and vulnerable Albertans.

Low-income transit programs

Many Albertans rely on public transportation to help them get to work, appointments and attend recreational activities. To help combat high inflation, Alberta's government introduced additional funding to provide low-income Albertans with more affordable access to transit service. In 2024-25, Seniors, Community and Social Services provided $13.8 million to 19 municipalities to subsidize their low-income transit programs, including $12 million for the Cities of Calgary and Edmonton to support programs in 2024-25 and 2025-26.

Performance Measure 2.a:
Percentage of participants employed after receiving Career and Employment Information Services: workshops, exposure courses, job placements, and Disability Related Employment Supports

Prior Years' Results				2024 Target	2024 Actual
2020	2021	2022	2023
61%	66%	75%	68%	65%	67%

Source: Work Outcomes Reporting Project Survey

Description: Career and Employment Information Services (CEIS) help Albertans to understand the labour market, make informed career decisions, develop realistic education, training and employment plans and to prepare for, find and maintain work. This performance measure captures the proportion (per cent) of former CEIS clients who found employment within three months after completing one of the following CEIS services: Exposure Course, Job Placement, Workshop, and Disability Related Employment Supports (DRES).

Rationale: This performance measure assesses the impact of CEIS on employability of CEIS clients. The measure includes the following services: Workshops, Exposure Course, Job Placement, DRES, and Workforce Development training. They do not include Assessments or other service types not surveyed via Work Outcomes Reporting Project.

Results and variance explanation: In 2024, 67 per cent of participants reported employment three months after receiving CEIS. This is a decrease of one percentage point from the 2023 result of 68 per cent and 2 percentage points above the 2024 target. In 2024, 75 per cent of Albertans reported they were satisfied or very satisfied with the CEIS services they received.

The variance between percentage of participants employed after receiving employment services in 2024 from 2023 may be explained by continuing changes in Alberta's labour market. Alberta's unemployment rate increased from an average of 5.8 per cent in 2023 to 7.1 per cent in 2024, due in part to rapid population growth that outpaced job creation. Alberta's job vacancy rates reached 3.1 per cent as of November 2024, a reduction from 2022 highs, representing a substantial decrease in job opportunities. Under these weak market conditions, the 2024 result of 67 per cent may reflect the utility of employment services in helping individuals navigate a tighter labour market.

Those who participated in employment services without obtaining employment may have transitioned to further education or training, obtained employment that was not captured in reporting, moved out of Alberta or received financial support from other sources

Outcome Three: Inclusion – Albertans can access social services across the province that foster their resiliency and support community inclusion and diversity.

Making social services accessible to Albertans across the province ensures they have an opportunity to remain and be included in their communities.

Key Objectives

- 3.1 Support municipalities and Metis Settlements to design and deliver preventive social programs which help to address key social issues in their communities.
- 3.2 Support Albertans to age well at home and prevent elder abuse by collaborating with community-based seniors-serving organizations, health and other sectors, and all orders of government.
- 3.3 With support from the Premier's Council on Charities and Civil Society, expand civil society's capacity to address emerging social issues and improve supports for Albertans.

3.1 Support municipalities and Metis Settlements to design and deliver preventive social programs which help to address key social issues in their communities.

Enhancing community well-being with Family and Community Support Services

The Family and Community Support Services \(FCSS\) program is a partnership between Seniors, Community and Social Services, participating municipalities and Metis Settlements to design and deliver locally-driven preventive social programming that helps meet the changing needs of vulnerable Albertans and support the well-being of Alberta's diverse communities. The program follows an 80/20 funding model, where Seniors, Community and Social Services provides up to 80 per cent of the funding and the municipality or Metis Settlement contributes a minimum of 20 per cent. In 2024-25, the ministry invested $104.3 million in the FCSS program.

In 2024-25, the ministry began implementing the final phase of the FCSS Accountability Framework. The framework guides local FCSS programs and the ministry in designing and delivering preventive social services that meet Albertans' needs now and into the future. The key elements of the FCSS Accountability Framework are:

- a common definition of prevention to guide both local FCSS programs at the municipal level and the wider provincial FCSS grant program;
- direction on provincial prevention priorities and strategies to help guide the work of local FCSS programs;
- a clear governance structure with roles and responsibilities for the province and participating municipalities and Metis Settlements; and
- an outcomes model and key performance measures to demonstrate the impact and value of FCSS in supporting prevention.

To implement the final phase of the Framework, the department worked in partnership with the FCSS Association of Alberta to establish a new shared measurement approach to simplify the reporting process for participating municipalities and Metis Settlements and improve the department's ability to measure the impact of the FCSS program at the provincial level. The new approach will be implemented in January 2026.

Community Connection Cafes

In 2023*, the Vulcan and Region FCSS ran Community Connection Cafes and other seniors programs in Arrowwood, Carmangay, Lomond, Milo, Mossleigh and Vulcan. These programs:

- assist seniors to apply for benefit programs, including the Alberta Seniors Benefit, and receive referrals to other social service providers;
- reduce social isolation by helping seniors build relationships with others in the community; and
- provide information about volunteer opportunities for seniors in their community.

3.2 Support Albertans to age well at home and prevent elder abuse by collaborating with community-based seniors-serving organizations, health and other sectors, and all orders of government.

Supporting organizations aiding senior's independence and well-being

Strengthening senior-serving organizations

Seniors-serving organizations are experiencing capacity and workforce challenges as service demands rise alongside Alberta's growing seniors population. In June 2024, Seniors, Community and Social Services announced an $18 million, three-year investment to strengthen the community-based seniors serving sector, enabling organizations to expand capacity and enhance supports.

In 2024-25, the ministry continued to support Albertans to age well at home and build capacity within the community-based seniors-serving sector through Healthy Aging Alberta. Healthy Aging Alberta is an evolving network of organizations and allies, with the United Way of Calgary and Area serving as the backbone organization. Healthy Aging Alberta facilitates leadership development, partnerships, community projects, resource mobilization, workforce planning and collaboration with government to address key issues affecting seniors. In 2024-25, the Government of Alberta provided Healthy Aging Alberta with $462,000, as part of a commitment of $1.4 million over three years, to coordinate and integrate the community-based senior-serving sector.

Providing non-medical supports, social prescribing and assisted transportation for seniors

In 2024-25, $3 million was provided for programs delivering social prescribing for Albertans: $1 million to Carya in Calgary, $1 million to Edmonton Seniors Coordinating Council and $200,000 each to Fort McMurray, Grande Prairie, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat and Red Deer. Social Prescribing programs bridge medical and community supports to provide wraparound services to Albertans.

In addition, $2.2 million was provided for the delivery of non-medical supports to enable individuals to live safely and independently at home or in the community. Examples of non-medical supports include housekeeping, meal assistance and transportation. Specifically, $2 million was provided to Healthy Aging Alberta for the expansion of the Home and Community Supports Program from 20 to 27 rural communities and a grant of $200,000 to Drive Happiness supported the operations of its volunteer driver transportation program while expanding services in Red Deer and the surrounding area. Drive Happiness provided over 3,300 rides to over 1,700 seniors in 25 communities in 2024-25. The Provincial Assisted Transportation Project through Healthy Aging Alberta supports the delivery of community-based assisted transportation to help seniors, older adults and individuals with disabilities access appointments, activities and events. In 2024-25, the program expanded to 19 communities and provided over 9,300 rides to over 2,200 Albertans.

Seniors special events and awards

Seniors, Community and Social Services recognized and celebrated the invaluable contributions of seniors and those who support them through various events and initiatives. The Minister's Seniors Service Awards honour individuals, businesses and non-profit organizations that demonstrate exceptional volunteerism, philanthropy, innovation or outstanding service to seniors. In April 2024, nine outstanding Albertans and organizations were recognized for their contributions in 2023. In fall 2025, the ministry will present a combined 2024–2025 Minister's Seniors Service Awards to continue celebrating those who make a meaningful difference in the lives of seniors across the province.

Since 1986, Seniors' Week has been recognized and observed annually during the first full week of June to celebrate the contributions seniors make to Alberta's communities. In 2024, Seniors' Week was co-hosted and officially launched in Banff, featuring an opening ceremony, live music and a resource fair highlighting local services. The celebration fostered community engagement and recognition of seniors' contributions. At the event, the Town of Banff and its Age-Friendly Committee received the Age-Friendly Alberta Recognition Award.

Age-Friendly Alberta Recognition Awards acknowledge communities that take meaningful steps to become more accessible and inclusive for seniors. These efforts enhance infrastructure, services, and accessibility, strengthening communities, supporting businesses, and improving quality of life for all Albertans. In addition to the Town of Banff, the municipalities of Innisfail, Okotoks and Wood Buffalo were also recognized in 2024.

Other annual events that highlight issues affecting seniors include World Elder Abuse Awareness Day, Alberta Day, the Day of Older Persons in Alberta and Fire Prevention Week. On World Elder Abuse Awareness Day, the ministry partnered with the Alberta Elder Abuse Awareness Council to distribute elder abuse toolkits to community partners and to promote the Safe Spaces Program, reaffirming its commitment to protecting seniors from abuse.

During Alberta Day celebrations, Seniors, Community and Social Services hosted interactive booths at Alberta House under the theme "Live, Learn, Laugh," where guests explored seniors' programs and services through engaging activities like trivia, heritage mapping and vintage object identification.

On the Day of Older Persons in Alberta, the ministry honoured the contributions of older adults through targeted social media messaging, raising awareness of issues such as social inclusion and access to services.

Lastly, during Fire Prevention Week in October 2024, Seniors, Community and Social Services collaborated with Municipal Affairs, the Alberta Emergency Management Agency and Caregivers Alberta to develop Fire Prevention Week presentations and fire safety resources for seniors and caregivers to help keep them safe and informed.

Support the independence and well-being of older adults through the implementation of Alberta's elder abuse prevention strategy

In 2024-25, Seniors, Community and Social Services continued to implement Alberta's five-year strategy for preventing and addressing elder abuse in collaboration with community-based senior-serving organizations. The ministry invested $3.4 million in initiatives to prevent elder abuse and support those who experience elder abuse, including:

- reviewing and enhancing elder abuse publications and educational materials, including multiple resources translated into 16 different languages;
- providing grants to the Alberta Elder Abuse Awareness Council to sustain the network of coordinated community responses and elder abuse case managers;
- supporting two dedicated elder abuse shelters in Calgary and Edmonton; and
- implementing the Safe Spaces Program to support older adults fleeing abuse in rural and Indigenous communities.

Preventing elder abuse through coordinated community responses

Through the Coordinated Community Responses (CCR) program, local service providers work together to achieve common goals related to addressing elder abuse. Through this program, communities hire elder abuse case managers to lead their local CCR and provide supports and referrals to older adults experiencing abuse. Examples of supports include counselling, dispute resolution, legal aid, crisis response, health services, shelter services, safe and affordable housing, court support and financial assistance.

In 2024-25, the department provided $1.2 million to the Alberta Elder Abuse Awareness Council to expand support from 13 to 20 CCRs in both rural and urban areas across the province. This funding represents an increase of $400,000 compared to 2023-24. Case managers in these CCRs worked with over 540 older adults across the province during the year, providing direct services and supports over 1,500 times and more than 1,200 referrals to other services.

2024-25 survey results for older adults who worked with elder abuse case managers

Responding to the demand for elder abuse shelters and safe spaces

Alberta currently has two shelters for older adults fleeing abuse in Calgary and Edmonton, with a total 25 beds available across both shelters. In Calgary, Unison Elder Abuse Shelter has 14 shelter beds. In Edmonton, Sage Seniors Safe House has seven shelter beds, plus four transition suites at a second location that were added in 2024-25.

In 2024-25, Seniors, Community and Social Services provided a total of $1.8 million to Unison Elder Abuse Shelter and Sage Seniors Safe House to operate elder abuse shelters and provide intensive case management supports. This is an increase of $225,000 from 2023-24 to support the operation of new transition suites by Sage Seniors Safe House. During 2024-25, the elder abuse shelters provided emergency housing to 91 clients, including 71 new admissions. The shelters worked with 166 clients through their outreach programs and responded to more than 1,300 calls for information and support. Over 80 per cent of the clients provided with emergency housing or outreach services were women.

The Safe Spaces Program aims to expand access to elder abuse shelter spaces in rural and Indigenous communities across the province where supports for seniors fleeing abuse is less available. The program approach builds on the existing CCR program. Case managers work with local seniors' lodge housing management bodies to find and use appropriate vacant spaces in seniors' lodges to shelter seniors escaping abuse. In 2024-25, the ministry provided $435,000 to the Alberta Elder Abuse Awareness Council to implement the Safe Spaces Program. In collaboration with key partners, program development occurred in early 2024-25. Following a call for applications, seven communities were selected to join the program in the fall of 2024: Athabasca, Camrose, Claresholm/Vulcan, Hinton, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat and Spruce Grove.

Enhancing service provider capacity across the province and within Indigenous communities

In 2024-25, the ministry provided $119,000 to the Alberta Elder Abuse Awareness Council for an Education and Training Coordinator and $181,000 for two Indigenous Resource Liaisons. These grants were supported through Alberta's four-year funding agreement with the federal government to support Alberta's ongoing work to end gender-based violence.

The Education and Training Coordinator works collaboratively with the Indigenous Resource Liaisons to build capacity of CCRs by providing a range of training opportunities for case managers and service providers, as well as professionals and post-secondary students in related fields. Indigenous Resource Liaisons raise awareness of elder abuse in Indigenous communities, connect Indigenous seniors and case managers with cultural resources (such as access to Elders), bridge connections with key stakeholders and support the development of CCRs and Safe Spaces.

3.3 With support from the Premier's Council on Charities and Civil Society, expand civil society's capacity to address emerging social issues and improve supports for Albertans.

From 2020 to 2023, the Premier's Council on Charities and Civil Society provided independent advice to government on its relationship with civil society organizations addressing pressing social issues across Alberta. The council engaged civil society stakeholders and provided advice to government through three published advisory reports, available on the Alberta Open Government Portal:

- Moving Forward: Charting a Path to Civil Society Recovery (2020);
- Supporting Women's Economic Recovery (2021-2022); and
- Building Momentum for Social Impact (2023).

Having fulfilled its mandate, the Premier's Council on Charities and Civil Society was officially dissolved in February 2025.

Performance Measure 3.a:
Satisfaction of families/guardians of clients accessing the Persons with Developmental Disabilities program that services are helping the client to be a part of their community (biennial survey)

Prior Years' Results				2024-25 Target	2024-25 Actual
2016-17	2019-20	2021-22	2023-24
89%	88%	86%	No survey conducted ¹	No survey planned ²	No results available

Source: Persons with Developmental Disabilities (PDD) Family and Guardian Survey

Notes:

- 1. The 2023-24 survey was postponed to adjust the survey questions to align with program process improvements.
- 2. This is a biennial survey. Targets are not provided for years when the survey is not conducted.

Description: The Persons with Developmental Disabilities (PDD) program provides supports to over 13,500 adults with developmental disabilities in Alberta. The services funded by the PDD program are an important mechanism for achieving successful outcomes for individuals. Families and guardians' opinions regarding these services, as measured by the biennial PDD Family/Guardian Satisfaction Survey, are important tools for assessing performance and making continuous improvements.

This performance measure assesses the satisfaction of families/guardians of adults accessing the PDD program that services are helping the client to be a part of their community. It is determined by the percentage of positive responses given to the survey statement: services help them to be part of the community as much as they want to be.

Rationale: This measure speaks to the ministry's commitment to increase inclusion for people with developmental disabilities in their communities.

Results and variance explanation: Results are not available due to the postponement of the biennial survey. Redevelopment of the survey is underway to align the survey questions with program improvements, engage with stakeholders, and assess if questions are properly targeted. This performance measure was not included in the 2025-28 Business Plan and will not be reported in future Seniors, Community and Social Supports Annual Reports until the survey approach is fully reviewed, updated and implemented.

Previous survey results and historical data for the PDD program are available on the Alberta Open Government Data Portal.

Performance Indicator 3.b: Seniors' Sense of Belonging to local Community

Prior Years' Results

2019	2020	2021	2022	2023
75.9%	73.4%	72.2%	71.3%	70.1%

Source: Statistics Canada, Canadian Community Health Survey (CCHS)

Note:

The CCHS is typically conducted between January and December of the survey year. Data is collected annually, and results lag by one year.

Description: This indicator tracks the percentage of Albertans aged 65 and older who report a somewhat strong or very strong sense of belonging to their local community at the time of the CCHS.

Rationale: This indicator is a proxy for social inclusion and community connectedness, and ties directly to the ministry's work related to social isolation, age-friendly communities, addressing ageism, and aging in community. It provides context on seniors' engagement with local community and their quality of life in Alberta.

Results and variance explanation: In 2023, the proportion of Alberta seniors reporting a somewhat strong or very strong sense of belonging to their local community declined by 1.2 percentage points from 2022, reaching 70.1 per cent. While this represents the lowest level in five years, the result is consistent with the national average for seniors (70 per cent). The decline may reflect the ongoing effects of social isolation, loneliness and anxiety stemming from COVID-19 public health restrictions in previous years. Additional research is needed to better understand the lasting impacts that public health restrictions had on social interactions and how individuals are reconnecting with community.

Seniors continue to report a stronger sense of belonging compared with younger adult cohorts. In 2023, the proportion of Albertans with a somewhat strong or very strong sense of belonging was 56.5 per cent for those aged 18 to 34, 59.1 per cent for those aged 35 to 49, and 62.5 per cent for those aged 50 to 64. All age groups, except those aged 50 to 64, experienced a decline in reported belonging from 2022 to 2023.

Access to data for this indicator lags by approximately one year and is dependent upon ongoing data collection and analysis by Statistics Canada. 2024 results are anticipated in October 2025, based on the previous year's release schedule.

Outcome Four: A modernized and re-focused health care system that delivers the highest quality patient care to all Albertans, including Indigenous Peoples, regardless of where they reside in the province, and is fiscally sustainable.

Alberta is refocusing the health care system to prioritize patient care and empower frontline health care workers, including those serving rural, remote and Indigenous communities, to deliver the highest quality health care.

Note: Outcome Four was originally Outcome Two in the 2024-27 Health Business Plan and has been renumbered for ease of reporting in this annual report. Only the Key Objectives from the 2024-27 Health Business Plan related to Continuing Care are included in this annual report.

Key Objectives

- 4.1 Improve patient outcomes and access through the creation of dedicated organizations for acute care, continuing care and primary care within a single functioning health care system.
- 4.2 Modernize and transform the continuing care system to improve quality of care, increase choice and innovation, shift to enable provision of more care in the community, and support the continuing care workforce.

4.1 Improve patient outcomes and access through the creation of dedicated organizations for acute care, continuing care, and primary care within a single functioning health care system.

Refocusing continuing care

To set the conditions for change in the continuing care sector to support Albertans, the Government of Alberta introduced the Continuing Care Act, which came into effect on April 1, 2024. New regulations, updated standards and improved licensing processes support clear and consistent compliance, monitoring and delivery of continuing care in Alberta.

As part of the ongoing Health transformation, Seniors, Community and Social Services became the ministry responsible for continuing care on December 12, 2024, with the legal establishment of the new continuing care provincial health agency, Assisted Living Alberta, on April 1, 2025. The ministry is now the lead for continuing care in Alberta and will ensure all Albertans can access quality care and services when and where they need it to support their independence and quality of life. Continuing care services support the health and well-being of individuals and may include non-medical and clinical assistance for those individuals with unmet needs. There are a variety of continuing care settings, services and supports available to Albertans depending on an individual's health, personal care or accommodation service needs. These services and supports may be provided in individuals' homes, community-based service locations such as day programs, supportive living accommodations and continuing care homes.

In 2024-25, the Government of Alberta continued to transform and modernize the continuing care system based on the recommendations from the Facility-Based Continuing Care review, the palliative and end-of-life care engagement and learnings from COVID-19. This included the continuation of Alberta's investment of $1 billion over three years (2023-24 to 2025-26), as well as commitment of more than $634.6 million in the federal Aging with Dignity Funding Agreement over five years (2023-24 to 2027-28). Alberta's continuing care transformation work includes ongoing efforts to allow for the provision of more care in the community, enhanced workforce capacity, increased choice and innovation, and improved quality of care in the continuing care sector.

Assisted Living Alberta

Assisted Living Alberta, the new public health agency for the continuing care health services sector, was announced on January 30, 2025 and established as an entity on April 1, 2025. Once operational, Assisted Living Alberta will align health and non-medical supports and services, increase continuing care spaces, reduce wait times and provide comprehensive wraparound supports for Albertans who require different levels and types of care. This includes:

- seniors in continuing care homes or supportive living accommodations, or those who want to continue aging at home but need supports to do so;
- people with disabilities;
- individuals experiencing homelessness; and
- other vulnerable Albertans who require temporary or longer-term care at home or in continuing care homes or supportive living accommodations.

4.2 Modernize and transform the continuing care system to improve quality of care, increase choice and innovation, shift to enable provision of more care in the community, and support the continuing care workforce.

Providing continuing care to Albertans

Alberta continues to invest in home and community-based services and supports as part of the transformation of Alberta’s continuing care system to ensure Albertans are getting the care they need, when and where they need it.

Expansion of Client Directed Home Care Invoicing

The Client Directed Home Care Invoicing service model provides Albertans with the option to select the home care service provider of their choosing and direct how their care is provided. While Client Directed Home Care Invoicing does not reflect all home care program delivery, the model is available province-wide and continued to expand to serve more Albertans throughout 2024-25. Of those that accessed the unique Client Directed Home Care Invoicing model, claims processed in 2024-25 reflected 2,023,115 total hours of care and $67.2 million total care funding through this growing service model, an increase of 118 per cent in total hours and 122 per cent in total funding from the previous year. The continued uptake and growth demonstrate the significance of this program in supporting clients and caregivers with the home care services they require, particularly in rural settings where the home care workforce is limited.

Home care program

In 2024-25, over 17 million hours were provided through the publicly-funded Home Care program to over 140,000 unique home care clients

Home care pilots

In 2024-25, the Government of Alberta provided funding of $2.4 million for four innovative home and community care pilot projects. In Calgary and Central Zone (Red Deer and Rimbey), the pilots enable transitions to home from acute care, and in Central Zone support clients and caregivers with extended hours at adult day programs. With the additional supports and appropriate home and community care provided by these pilot projects, seniors and adults with disabilities will have the ability to stay in their homes and communities longer. To date, 371 clients have benefited from these pilots.

Average direct care hours per resident day

Continuing care home operator type	2022-23	2023-24	2024-25
Type A	3.37	3.62	3.70
Type B	2.80	2.99	3.07

Type A – 24/7 complex scheduled and unscheduled professional and personal care with registered nurses and health care aides.
Type B – 24/7 scheduled and unscheduled professional and personal care with licensed practical nurses and health care aides.
Note:
Funded worked hours for Type B settings differ based on levels of care (formerly Designated Supportive Living (DSL) 3,4 and 4D). Table reflects DSL4 worked care hours per resident day.

Direct care hours

In response to recommendations from the 2021 Facility-Based Continuing Care Review, the Government of Alberta provided $136.2 million in 2024-25 to incrementally increase direct hours of care in continuing care homes. Increasing direct care hours enables staff to provide a higher quality of care, which improves the quality of life for residents, while at the same time, reducing staff stress and burnout.

The Continuing Care Homes Quality of Life Initiatives Grant

In March 2024, the Government of Alberta announced a grant call for the Continuing Care Homes Quality of Life Initiatives Grant. This funding was designed to provide Type A and B continuing care home operators with an opportunity to develop and lead innovative evidence-informed initiatives to improve resident quality of life by addressing at least one of three priority areas: opportunities to participate in meaningful activity; access to culturally appropriate care; and mealtime experiences. Nine projects have been approved for the next two years, totaling $4 million in 2024-25, that will impact the residents at 52 participating continuing care homes across Alberta. Two of the projects will focus on mealtime experience and seven will focus on meaningful activity.

Supports for caregivers

The Government of Alberta provided $3.7 million in 2024-25 to support and strengthen networks, resources and connections for caregivers (family or friends caring for loved ones). These investments included:

- $1.6 million to Caregivers Alberta to expand programs to serve more caregivers, grow their volunteer ambassador program, assist employers to support caregiving employees and establish pathways and supports for caregivers to navigate the system to easily connect with help;
- $685,500 to the University of Alberta to design a strategy and implement caregiver-centered care in health and social care settings across Alberta; and
- $1.4 million to the Alzheimer Society of Alberta and Northwest Territories to expand support and navigation in communities across the province. This grant will expand and fortify the support systems available to persons living with dementia and their caregivers and includes four sub-projects: palliative approach and grief support; cultural communities; mobile rural navigator team; and dementia supportive communities.

Trauma-informed care

In 2024-25, the Government of Alberta provided $200,000 to the University of Alberta's Translating Research in Elder Care research program to plan and host a trauma-informed care policy forum. The forum was designed to advance a common understanding of trauma, its consequences and impacts on continuing care home residents and their families and caregivers (including staff), as well as identify recommendations that could be implemented in Alberta's continuing care homes to improve quality of care and dementia care. Trauma-informed care is a universal approach that recognizes that people have experienced trauma in their lives and adjusts the environment to prevent re-traumatization. The two-day forum took place in October 2024 with 60 invited attendees, including continuing care staff and operators, policy and decision-makers from government and the health services sector, researchers and trauma experts.

Mental health supports for the continuing care workforce

The government recognizes that addressing continuing care workforce wellbeing, retention and recruitment is required to enable quality care and is committed to address workforce issues through system transformation. In 2024-25, Alberta's government supported and expanded initiatives to improve mental health supports for the continuing care workforce. This included $2.5 million to the Alberta Continuing Care Association to administer the Care for Staff program. The Care for Staff program delivered staff-informed projects to support employee mental health and well-being across Alberta. The Government of Alberta also provided $650,000 to support workplace mentorship programming and invested another $106,000 in interventions and tools to support continuing care staff strength and resiliency.

Growing the continuing care workforce

The Government of Alberta has supported multiple initiatives to increase workforce supply for health care aides (HCA) and to grow the continuing care workforce. In 2024-25, these investments included:

- $666,000, as part of $2 million over three years, to two Indigenous post-secondary institutions to develop and deliver First Nations-infused HCA training;
- $10.7 million in HCA bursaries to decrease financial barriers and support 400 additional students to receive HCA training in continuing care;
- $600,000 to Alberta Education to support HCA dual credit programming for Alberta high school students;
- $2.2 million to pilot alternative pathways to HCA programming and assist more Albertans to become HCAs in continuing care;
- $1.5 million to support the review of the Alberta HCA curriculum, led by the College of Licensed Practical Nurses of Alberta to prepare HCA graduates with the knowledge, skills and abilities necessary for practice; and
- $84 million in continuing care transformation funding to support HCA wage increases and alignment, including $53 million to maintain the COVID-19 wage top-up for continuing care home HCAs and $31 million to align home care HCA wages.

Continuing Care Capital Program

Through the health refocusing, the Continuing Care Capital Program became the responsibility of Seniors, Community and Social Services.

The reorganization has enabled a comprehensive review of continuing care capital, aligning it more closely with social housing capital initiatives to identify potential synergies. This strategic alignment has resulted in some delays in capital spending as integration efforts progress. Over $200 million was spent in 2024-25 for new and modernized continuing care spaces.

Moving forward, the program will aim to modernize existing aging and/or outdated continuing care homes, develop culturally appropriate continuing care spaces to support Indigenous groups and organizations, enable innovative approaches and add new continuing care spaces in priority areas across the province. A total of 2,252 continuing care home spaces were under construction as of March 31, 2025.

Continuing care home spaces under construction as of March 31, 2025

Performance Measure 4a:
Percentage of clients moved to continuing care homes¹ within 30 days of being assessed

Prior Years' Results				2024-25 Target	2024-25 Actual
2020-21	2021-22	2022-23	2023-24
61.3%	65.6%	64.1%	62.5% ²	66.0%	63.0%

Source: Alberta Health Services. Data are extracted from Meditech and Strata Health Pathways

Notes:

- 1. Includes long-term care homes (type A) and designated supportive living (type B) but excludes hospices (type C).
- 2. Since May 2023, some zones have been unable to report the data that supports the calculation of this provincial indicator due to the launch of Connect Care. As a result, the data to support the provincial percentage of clients moved to continuing care within 30 days of being assessed is not complete to the end of 2023-24.

Description: This measure monitors the timeliness of access to continuing care homes in Alberta, as indicated by the wait times experienced by clients who move into a continuing care home within 30 days of being assessed.

Rationale: This measure speaks to the ministry’s commitment to provide access to a continuing care home as soon as possible after being assessed, supporting the delivery of highest quality client care regardless of where they reside in the province.

Results and variance explanation: The 2024-25 result of 63.0 per cent is higher than the 62.5 per cent reported in 2023-24 and shows an increase in the percentage of clients who moved into a continuing care home within 30 days of being assessed. The preliminary result for 2024-25 is three percentage points below target.

Investments have been made in home and community care and the number of available continuing care home spaces is increasing as additional new spaces are identified and planned for. Together, these investments will provide additional capacity to enable Albertans who need continuing care homes the ability to access them in a timelier manner.

Performance Measure and Indicator Methodology

Performance Measure 1.a:

Median time between when an Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped (AISH) application is ready for medical adjudication and an eligibility decision is made (in weeks)

This performance measure captures the median time (in weeks) between when an Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped (AISH) application is deemed ready for medical adjudication (the applicant has met all the criteria for general eligibility and submitted all documents required to determine their medical eligibility) and when the medical eligibility decision is made.

The information needed to generate this performance measure is captured in the Treatment of Income (TOI) system. Both the dates when an application is deemed ready for adjudication and when a medical eligibility decision is made are entered into the TOI system. The result for this measure is generated in four steps using computer scripts:

1. Identify all medical eligibility decisions that were made in a given fiscal year.
2. Determine the time it took to reach the individual medical eligibility decisions (from when the applications were deemed ready for adjudication to when the medical eligibility decision was made).
3. Arrange the time it took to reach the individual eligibility decisions from least to greatest.
4. Obtain the result for the performance measure by identifying the middle value (if there is an odd number of eligibility decisions) or by calculating the average of the two middle values (if there is an even number of eligibility decisions).

Performance Measure 1.b:
Online Seniors Financial Assistance (SFA) application utilization

Data for this measure is collected by the Seniors Program Delivery Branch in the Seniors Division. The result for this measure is calculated by dividing the total number of first-time applications received online (numerator) by the total number of first-time applications received (denominator). Online application methods include authenticated and non-authenticated applications. Authenticated refers to Seniors' Financial Assistance (SFA) applications made online using an Alberta.ca verified account. Non-authenticated refers to SFA applications made online using the in-browser fillable form. The measure excludes online applications from seniors who have previously applied through any method, and former Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped recipients who are automatically enrolled at age 65.

First-time SFA application includes applications made online and applications submitted by mail, fax and hand-delivery. Applications received via any of the paper methods are uploaded and attached to an applicant's file as an electronic record. Data related to the application, including the method of application, is stored in the applicant's file in the Alberta Seniors Benefit database. Data is extracted by a query against the database for first-time SFA applications received within the fiscal year. The query results are analyzed to confirm the total number of first-time applicants, and the total number of first-time applicants who applied using the online options in the fiscal year.

Information on SFA application method is regularly shared and monitored by the Seniors Program Delivery Branch.

Performance Measure 1.c:New affordable housing units and rental subsidies available for Albertans with low income

Data for this measure is collected by the Housing Operations and Housing Capital Program branches in the Housing Division. The result for this measure is calculated in three steps:

1. Calculate the total number of new affordable housing units by adding the total number of newly built units and the total number of regenerated units completed in a fiscal year.
 - Affordable housing is defined as rental housing for persons in “core housing need” provided on a rent-geared-to-income basis (i.e., the amount of rent to be paid by tenants is based on the amount of income earned, often as a percentage of the tenant’s income). A household is considered in “core housing need” if it falls below at least one of the adequacy, affordability, or suitability standards, and spends 30 per cent or more of its total before-tax income on housing.
 - A newly built unit is defined as one new unit of housing that has been built within a larger structure such as a house, apartment, mobile home, or group of rooms where a person or family eat, live, and sleep.
 - A regenerated unit is defined as an existing unit of housing that has undergone a significant refurbishment to improve the interior and/or exterior and upgrade the unit. Upgrading can apply to finishes, materials and/or have the housing comply with building codes or meet/exceed current standard minimums. The existing unit has been built within a larger structure such as a house, apartment, mobile home, or group of rooms where a person or family eat, live, and sleep.
 - The number of new and regenerated affordable housing units are based on completed capital projects. Units are recognized as completed when the occupancy permit has been issued. Capital project information is tracked and retained in the internal HOME system.
2. Calculate the total number of rental subsidies by subtracting the total number of households supported through the rent supplement program at the start of the fiscal year (April 1) from the total number of households supported through the rent supplement program at the end of the fiscal year (March 31).
 - The number of households assisted through rent subsidies is based on incremental change in households supported through the Rental Assistance Benefit, Temporary Rental Assistance Benefit and the Private to Landlord Rent Supplement programs.
 - Information on rental subsidies is provided by housing management bodies. This information is added to the internal HOME system following a validation process.
3. Calculate the entire inventory of affordable housing added in a fiscal year by adding the sub-total from step one (total number of new affordable housing units) and the sub-total from step two (total number of rental subsidies).

Performance Measure 2.a:

Percentage of participants employed after receiving Career and Employment Information Services: workshops, exposure courses, job placements, and Disability Related Employment Supports

The data for the metric is collected through the Work Outcomes Reporting Project Survey, which is conducted monthly by an independent consultant.

Participants for the survey are selected by using stratified random sampling method applied to former CEIS clients three months after they had received CEIS (Exposure Course, Job Placement, Workshop, or Disability Related Employment Supports (DRES)). However, a census approach is applied when the program leaver population size is small. The survey is either completed online or by phone.

This performance metric is based on the answers given to the following two questions:

1. What is your current main activity?
2. Have you been employed at any time since you participated in CEIS?

The performance metric for each calendar year (January 1 – December 31) is calculated by dividing the weighted sum of the number of participants employed (i.e. “employed” or “self-employed” to Q1, or “Yes” to Q2) by the weighted sum of the responses for all program participants who left the program between September 1 to August 31 in the following year.

These CEIS clients are surveyed during the calendar year period (between January 1 and December 31). The results from the random sample are weighted to more accurately represent the population of all program participants.

Performance Measure 3.a:Satisfaction of families/guardians of clients accessing the Persons with Developmental Disabilities program that services are helping the client to be a part of their community (biennial survey)

The Persons with Developmental Disabilities (PDD) Family/Guardian Survey collects data for this performance measure. This survey is conducted biennially.

Survey administration is typically between November and December biennially. All guardians (often family) of adults with developmental disabilities who received PDD services as of October in the reporting year are invited to participate in the survey.

Guardians with valid email addresses receive an email from the ministry inviting them to participate in the PDD Family/Guardian survey. The email includes a link to the survey, as well as a toll-free number guardians can call to complete the survey over the phone. Guardians without email addresses and/or phone numbers receive an invitation by mail to participate in the survey via a phone call or mail. Guardians who do not complete or schedule an appointment to complete the survey receive follow-up calls until a minimally acceptable number of responses are obtained for each Alberta region (South, Calgary, Central, Edmonton, Northwest and Northeast). Before completing the survey, respondents are told of the survey's intention, voluntary nature of their involvement and confidentiality of the information they will provide. Any respondent who requests to be contacted at a more convenient time is accommodated.

This performance measure is derived based on the level of agreement with the following statement:

“Overall, I am satisfied that the person’s services help him/her to be a part of the community as much as he/she wants to be.”

For this statement, respondents select from a scale with the following response options: strongly agree, agree, somewhat agree, somewhat disagree, disagree, strongly disagree, don’t know, and does not apply.

The performance measure is calculated by dividing the total number of ‘agree’ responses (strongly agree, agree, and somewhat agree responses) by the total number of respondents and then multiplying the quotient by 100. Cases with no response or responses of don’t know or does not apply are treated as invalid and excluded from the calculation. The results are weighted to represent each region’s proportion of the province’s population.

$$\text{Performance Measure} = \frac{\sum (\text{strongly agree} + \text{agree} + \text{somewhat agree})}{\sum (\text{all respondents}) - \sum (\text{no responses} + \text{don't know} + \text{does not apply})} \times 100$$

Performance Indicator 3.b:
Seniors' sense of belonging to local community

Data for this indicator is obtained from the Canadian Community Health Survey (CCHS) conducted by Statistics Canada. The CCHS is a sample survey with a cross-sectional design that collects information related to health status, health care utilization and health determinants for the Canadian population. Data is collected directly from survey respondents using computer assisted telephone interview software. Response to the survey is voluntary. The CCHS covers the population 12 years of age and over living in the ten provinces and the three territorial capitals. Excluded from the survey's coverage are:

- persons living on reserves and other Aboriginal settlements in the provinces;
- full-time members of the Canadian Forces;
- the institutionalized population;
- children aged 12-17 that are living in foster care; and
- persons living in the Quebec health regions of Région du Nunavik and Région des Terres-Cries-de-la-Baie-James.

The survey question on sense of belonging to local community is rated on a four-point scale, with responses being:

- very weak;
- somewhat weak;
- somewhat strong; and
- very strong.

The percentage of Alberta seniors reporting a positive sense of belonging to local community is calculated by dividing the estimated number of individuals aged 65 and older who report their sense of belonging to their local community as being very strong or somewhat strong (numerator) by the estimated number of individuals aged 65 and older (denominator), based on the Alberta sample. The sample data are weighted to enable tabulation of estimates at the provincial level of aggregation. Census population counts are used to produce the population projection counts.

Performance Measure 4.a:Percentage of clients moved to continuing care homes within 30 days of being assessed

Continuing care homes (CCH)¹ refers to the level of care that provides health and support services appropriate to meet the client's assessed unmet needs (i.e., Designated Supportive Living Level 3 or 4, 4-Dementia or Long-Term Care).

Assessed and Approved date refers to the date the client is placed on the waitlist for CCH¹ following the completion of the assessment and approval process.

$$\% \text{ Community} = \frac{\frac{\text{\# of clients moved to a CCH}^1 \text{ from community within 30 days of their assessed and approved date}^2}{\text{Total \# of clients admitted to a continuing care home during the reporting period}}}{\text{Total \# of clients admitted to a continuing care home during the reporting period}} \times 100$$

% Acute/Sub – acute care =

$$\frac{\text{\# of clients moved to a CCH}^1 \text{ from acute/sub-acute care within 30 days of their assessed \& approved date}}{\text{Total \# of clients admitted to a continuing care home during the reporting period}} \times 100$$

$$\% \text{ Total} = \frac{\text{\# of clients moved to a CCH}^1 \text{ within 30 days of their assessed and approved date}}{\text{Total \# of clients admitted to a continuing care home during the reporting period}} \times 100$$

Source: Alberta Health Services. Data are extracted from Meditech and Strata health Pathways

Notes:

1. Includes continuing care homes of type A (long-term care) and type B (designated supportive living) but excludes community hospices (type C).
2. # of clients moved to a CCH¹ within 30 days of their assessed and approved date = # clients moved to a CCH¹ from home + # of clients moved to a CCH¹ from acute care.

Reporting Entity and Method of Consolidation

The financial information is prepared in accordance with government's stated accounting policies, which are based on Canadian Public Sector Accounting Standards.

The reporting entity is the ministry for which the Minister is accountable. The accounts of the ministry, which includes the department and the Alberta Social Housing Corporation making up the ministry, are consolidated using the line-by-line method.

Under this method, accounting policies of the consolidated entities are adjusted to conform to those of the government and the results of each line item in their financial statements (revenue, expense, assets, and liabilities) are included in government's results. Revenue and expense, capital, investing and financing transactions and related asset and liability balances between the consolidated entities have been eliminated.

A list of the individual entities making up the ministry is shown on the "Management's Responsibility for Reporting" statement included in this annual report.

Revenue and Expense Highlights

Revenues

- Total revenues in 2024-25 were $414.0 million which is a decrease of $49.8 million from budget and a decrease of $6.4 million from 2023-24.
- Transfers from the Government of Canada totalled $355.5 million, a decrease of $50.7 million from the budget. This was primarily due to recognized federal Aging with Dignity funding that was significantly lower than originally budgeted.
- Other revenue totalled $43.6 million, a decrease of $28.7 million from prior year. This was primarily due to prior year expenditure refunds from Affordability Supports and Inflation Relief and Persons with Developmental Disabilities (PDD) service providers.

Expenses

- Total expenses in 2024-25 were $6.0 billion, which is an increase of $99.3 million from the budget and an increase of $433.0 million from 2023-24.
- Expenses for Employment and Income Support were higher than budget by $191.4 million. This was primarily due to an increase in caseload in the Income Support program as a result of higher unemployment that is partially offset by slightly lower cost per case. In addition, there was also related increased staffing and program delivery costs.
- Expenses for Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped were higher than 2023-24 by $109.0 million. This was primarily due to increase in caseload and cost per case.
- Expenses for Disability Services were higher than 2023-24 by $81.8 million. This was primarily due to increased spending for Persons with Developmental Disabilities (PDD) for contracted services. In addition, there was an increase in caseload and cost per case for PDD and Family Support for Children with Disabilities.
- Expenses for Homeless and Outreach Support Services were higher than budget by $43.2 million. This was primarily due to additional approved homeless initiatives including transitional housing, Winter Emergency Response, Navigation Centres and the new federally funded Unsheltered Homelessness and Encampments Initiatives.
- Expenses for Alberta Seniors Benefit were higher than 2023-24 by $19.1 million. This was primarily due to a net increase in caseload and cost per case.
- Expenses for Continuing Care were higher than 2023-24 by $252.6 million. The increase is primarily due to new Continuing Care Capital Program modernization projects and new capital grant funding agreements.
- Expenses for Disaster Recovery & Emergency Assistance were lower than 2023-24 by $38.5 million. This was primarily due to fewer emergency evacuation payments required to assist Albertans in recovering from wildfire disasters compared to the prior year.
- Expenses for Affordability Supports and Inflation Relief were lower than 2023-24 by $192.5 million. This was primarily due to the affordability program, payments to eligible Albertans to assist with the rising cost of living and inflation, ending in 2023-24.
- Expenses for Alberta Social Housing Corporation were lower than budget by $117.2 million. This was primarily due to less capital grants as a result of delays in implementing several programs and projects.

Expenses – Directly Incurred Detailed by Object (unaudited)

- The ministry's largest operating expense was grants, which made up 72.8 per cent of total operating expenses. In 2024-25, nearly $4.4 billion was provided to support individuals, organizations and communities. The majority of funding was for the Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped, Employment and Income Support, Alberta Seniors Benefit and Disability Services programs.
- Supplies and services of $1.2 billion (20.2 per cent) was largely spent on service provider contracts in the Persons with Developmental Disabilities program as well as training and workshops in the Employment and Income Support program.
- Salaries, wages and employee benefit expenses totalled $359.8 million (6.0 per cent) and were primarily for front line delivery of ministry programs and to administer grant programs.
- The remainder of ministry expenses totalled $57.7 million (1.0 per cent) and were classified as amortization of tangible capital assets ($54.2 million) and other expenses ($3.5 million).

Tangible Capital Assets (unaudited)

Net Book Value as of March 31, 2025

In thousands

- Net book value of buildings providing housing as of March 31, 2025, was $1.2 billion, which accounts for 86.2 per cent of the total tangible capital assets balance. Buildings increased by $50.8 million from the prior year, which is primarily attributed to the addition of various housing projects for capital development and maintenance renewal.
- Net book value of land providing housing as of March 31, 2025, was $174.7 million, which accounts for 12.2 per cent of the total tangible capital assets balance. Land increased by $0.3 million from the prior year, which is primarily attributed to a land donation which is partially offset by nominal sum disposal of properties to housing providers.

Independent Auditor's Report

To the Minister of Assisted Living and Social Services

Report on the Financial Statements

Opinion

I have audited the financial statements of Alberta Social Housing Corporation (the Corporation), which comprise the statement of financial position as at March 31, 2025, and the statements of operations, change in net debt, and cash flows for the year then ended, and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In my opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Corporation as at March 31, 2025, and the results of its operations, its changes in net debt, and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian public sector accounting standards.

Basis for opinion

I conducted my audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. My responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of my report. I am independent of the Corporation in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to my audit of the financial statements in Canada, and I have fulfilled my other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. I believe that the audit evidence I have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for my opinion.

Other information

Management is responsible for the other information. The financial statements of the Corporation are included in the Annual Report of the Ministry of Seniors, Community and Social Services. The other information comprises the information included in the Annual Report of the Ministry of Seniors, Community and Social Services relating to the Corporation, but does not include the financial statements of the Corporation and my auditor's report thereon. The Annual Report of the Ministry of Seniors, Community and Social Services is expected to be made available to me after the date of this auditor's report.

My opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and I do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with my audit of the financial statements, my responsibility is to read the other information identified above and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or my knowledge obtained in the audit, or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.

If, based on the work I will perform on this other information, I conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, I am required to communicate the matter to those charged with governance.

Responsibilities of management and those charged with governance for the financial statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with Canadian public sector accounting standards, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of the financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Corporation's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless an intention exists to liquidate or to cease operations, or there is no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing the Corporation's financial reporting process.

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements

My objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes my opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards, I exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. I also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for my opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Corporation's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Corporation's ability to continue as a going concern. If I conclude that a material uncertainty exists, I am required to draw attention in my auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify my opinion. My conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of my auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Corporation to cease to continue as a going concern.

- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

I communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that I identify during my audit.

Notes the Financial Statements

Alberta Social Housing Corporation

March 31, 2025

Note 1 AUTHORITY AND PURPOSE

The Alberta Social Housing Corporation (the Corporation) is an agent of the Crown in right of Alberta established in 1995 by the Alberta Housing Act and operates under the authority of the Alberta Housing Act, Chapter A-25, Revised Statutes of Alberta 2000. The Act is administered by the Department of Seniors, Community and Social Services.

The mandate of the Corporation is to provide services that facilitate the provision of affordable housing options through community based housing organizations to low-income seniors, families, individuals and those with special needs. The Corporation owns and administers the Crown's portfolio of housing assets and manages provincial debts and intergovernmental agreements associated with those assets. This includes administering the sale of provincially owned properties that are no longer efficient or effective for social housing programs. The Corporation also oversees the provincial commitments and entitlements remaining from discontinued business activities such as mortgages and loan guarantees.

The Corporation is a crown agent of the Government of Alberta and as such has a tax exempt status.

Note 2 SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES AND REPORTING PRACTICES

These financial statements are prepared in accordance with Canadian Public Sector Accounting Standards.

(a) Reporting Entity

The financial statements reflect the assets, liabilities, revenues, and expenses of the Corporation.

The reporting entity is the Corporation, which is part of the Ministry of Seniors, Community and Social Services and for which the Minister of Seniors, Community and Social Services is accountable. The other entity reporting to the minister is the Department of Seniors, Community and Social Services. The activities of the department are not included in these financial statements. The ministry annual report provides a more comprehensive accounting of the financial position and results of the ministry's operations for which the minister is accountable.

(b) Basis of Financial Reporting

Revenues

All revenues are reported on the accrual basis of accounting.

Government transfers

Transfers from all governments are referred to as government transfers.

Government transfers are recognized as deferred contributions when the stipulations together with the Corporation's actions and communications as to the use of the transfer, create a liability. These transfers are recognized as revenue as the stipulations are met and, when applicable, the Corporation complies with its communicated use of these transfers.

Note 2 SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES AND REPORTING PRACTICES (Cont'd)

(b) Basis of Financial Reporting (Cont'd)

All other government transfers, without stipulations for the use of the transfer, are recognized as revenue when the transfer is authorized and the Corporation meets the eligibility criteria (if any).

Donations and non-Government contributions

Donations and non-government contributions are received from individuals, corporations, and private sector not-for-profit organizations. Donations and non-government contributions may be unrestricted or externally restricted for operating or capital purposes.

Unrestricted donations and non-government contributions are recognized as revenue in the year received or in the year the funds are committed to the Corporation if the amount can be reasonably estimated and collection is reasonably assured.

Externally restricted donations and non-government contributions are recognized as deferred contributions if the terms for their use, or the terms along with the Corporation's actions and communications as to the use, create a liability. These resources are recognized as revenue as the terms are met and, when applicable, the Corporation complies with its communicated use.

In-kind donations of materials are recognized at fair value when such value can reasonably be determined.

Expenses

Expenses are reported on an accrual basis. The cost of all goods consumed and services received during the year are expensed. Interest expense includes debt servicing costs.

Transfers include entitlements, grants and transfers under shared cost agreements. Grants and transfers are recognized as expenses when the transfer is authorized, eligibility criteria have been met by the recipient, and a reasonable estimate of the amounts can be made.

Valuation of Financial Assets and Liabilities

The organization's financial assets and liabilities are generally measured as follows:

Financial Statement Component	Measurement
Cash and cash equivalents	Cost
Accounts receivable	Lower of cost or net recoverable value
Loans and advances	Lower of cost or net recoverable value
Accounts payable and other accrued liabilities	Cost
Asset retirement obligations	Cost

Note 2 SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES AND REPORTING PRACTICES (Cont'd)

(b) Basis of Financial Reporting (Cont'd)

Financial Assets

Financial assets are assets that could be used to discharge existing liabilities or finance future operations and are not for consumption in the normal course of operations.

Financial assets are the Corporation's financial claims on external organizations and individuals, as well as cash at year end.

Cash and cash equivalents

Cash comprises of cash on hand. Cash equivalents are short-term, highly liquid, investments that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash and that are subject to an insignificant risk of change in value. Cash equivalents are held for the purpose of meeting short-term commitments rather than for investment purposes, with terms to maturity of primary less than three months from the date of acquisition.

Accounts receivable

Accounts receivable are recognized at the lower of cost or net recoverable value. A valuation allowance is recognized when recovery is uncertain.

Loans and advances

Loans and advances are recognized at the lower of cost or net recoverable value. Cost includes amounts advanced, accrued interest and other charges, less repayments and subsidies. Loans and advances include advances to housing providers to address short-term cash flow needs for specified projects and operating pressures.

Liabilities

Liabilities are present obligations of the Corporation to external organizations and individuals arising from past transactions or events occurring before the year end, the settlement of which is expected to result in the future sacrifice of economic benefits. They are recognized when there is an appropriate basis of measurement and management can reasonably estimate the amounts.

Asset Retirement Obligations (ARO)

Asset retirement obligations are legal obligations associated with the retirement of a tangible capital assets (TCA). Asset retirement activities include all activities relating to an asset retirement obligation. These may include, but are not limited to:

- decommissioning or dismantling a tangible capital asset that was acquired, constructed or developed;
- remediation of contamination of a tangible capital asset created by its normal use;
- post-retirement activities such as monitoring; and
- constructing other tangible capital assets to perform post-retirement activities.

(b) Basis of Financial Reporting (Cont'd)

Liabilities (Cont'd)

Asset Retirement Obligations (ARO) (Cont'd)

A liability for an asset retirement obligation is recognized when, as at the financial reporting date:

- (a) there is a legal obligation to incur retirement costs in relation to a tangible capital asset;
- (b) the past transaction or event giving rise to the liability has occurred;
- (c) it is expected that future economic benefits will be given up; and
- (d) a reasonable estimate of the amount can be made.

When a liability for asset retirement obligation is recognized, asset retirement costs related to recognized tangible capital assets in productive use are capitalized by increasing the carrying amount of the related asset and are generally amortized on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful life of the underlying tangible capital asset. Asset retirement costs related to unrecognized tangible capital assets and those not in productive use are expensed.

Non-Financial Assets

Non-financial assets are acquired, constructed, or developed assets that do not normally provide resources to discharge existing liabilities, but instead:

- (a) are normally employed to deliver government services;
- (b) may be consumed in the normal course of operations; and
- (c) are not for sale in the normal course of operations.

Non-financial assets are limited to tangible capital assets.

Tangible capital assets

Tangible capital assets are recognized at cost less accumulated amortization, which includes amounts that are directly related to the acquisition, design, construction, development, improvement or betterment of the assets, and asset retirement cost.

Work in progress, which includes facilities and improvements projects and development of information systems is not amortized until after a project is complete (or substantially complete) and the asset is put into service.

Leases of tangible capital assets which transfer substantially all the benefits and risks of ownership are accounted for as leased tangible capital assets. Note 17 provides a schedule of repayments on the leases.

Note 2 SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES AND REPORTING PRACTICES (Cont'd)

(b) Basis of Financial Reporting (Cont'd)

Non-Financial Assets (Cont'd)

The cost of the tangible capital assets, excluding land, is amortized on a straight-line basis over their estimated useful lives as follows:

Buildings	10-50 Years
Computer hardware and software	3-10 Years
Others	5-10 Years

Tangible capital assets are written down when conditions indicate that they no longer contribute to the Corporation's ability to provide goods and services, or when the value of future economic benefits associated with the tangible capital assets are less than their net book value. The net write-downs are accounted for as expenses in the Statement of Operations.

The threshold for capitalizing new systems development is $250,000 and the threshold for major systems enhancements is $100,000. The threshold for all other tangible capital assets is $5,000.

Contributed tangible capital assets from non-related entities are recognized at their fair value at the time of contribution.

When physical assets (tangible capital assets) are gifted or are sold for a nominal sum, the net book value of these physical assets, less any nominal proceeds, are recognized as grants in kind.

Measurement Uncertainty
(in thousands)

Measurement uncertainty exists when there is a variance between the recognized or disclosed amount and another reasonably possible amount, whenever estimates are used. Estimates relating to the determination of the Housing Management Bodies accounts receivable recognized/disclosed as $4,614 (2024: $7,899) in these financial statements, is subject to measurement uncertainty. This balance is based on budgeted figures which may not reflect actual audited amounts. It is possible that the actual Housing Management Bodies accounts receivable could vary by as much as minus fifteen percent at March 31, 2025 (2024: minus six percent), resulting in an estimated difference in the Housing Management Bodies accounts receivable as high as minus $692 (2024: minus $474).

There is measurement uncertainty related to asset retirement obligations as it involves estimates in determining settlement amount, discount rates and timing of settlement. Changes to any of these estimates and assumptions may result in change to the obligation.

March 31, 2025

Note 2 SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES AND REPORTING PRACTICES (Cont'd)

(b) Basis of Financial Reporting (Cont'd)

Financial Instruments

Financial instruments consist of cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable, loans and advances, accounts payable and other accrued liabilities. They are initially recognized at cost and subsequently carried at amortized cost. Write-downs on financial assets are recognized when the amount of a loss is known with sufficient precision and there is no reasonable expectation of recovery. The Corporation does not own any derivatives, portfolio investments or other financial instruments designated in the fair value category and as such has not included a Statement of Remeasurement Gains and Losses.

Risk Management

The Corporation has minimal exposure to credit risk, liquidity risk and interest rate risk due to the nature of its operations. The primary creditors of the Corporation are the Government of Alberta and the federal government. Both governments provide operational support to the Corporation, thus reducing exposure to credit risk. Liquidity risk is minimized given the cash and cash equivalents balance within the Corporation and the annual operational funding provided by the Ministry of Seniors, Community and Social Services. As interest rates on debt are fixed, the Corporation is not exposed to interest rate fluctuation risk because the future cash flows of the debt will not fluctuate with future market interest rate changes.

Note 3 CHANGE IN ACCOUNTING POLICY

Effective April 1, 2023, the Corporation adopted the PS 3400 Revenue standard, however there were no changes to the measurement of revenues on adoption of the new standard.

Note 4 FUTURE CHANGES IN ACCOUNTING STANDARDS

On April 1, 2026, the Corporation will adopt the following new conceptual framework and accounting standards approved by the Public Sector Accounting Board:

- The Conceptual Framework for Financial Reporting in the Public Sector
 The Conceptual Framework is the foundation for public sector financial reporting standard setting. It replaces the conceptual aspects of Section PS 1000 Financial Statement Concepts and Section PS 1100 Financial Statement Objectives. The conceptual framework highlights considerations fundamental for the consistent application of accounting issues in the absence of specific standards.
- PS 1202 Financial Statement Presentation
 Section PS 1202 sets out general and specific requirements for the presentation of information in general purpose financial statements. The financial statement presentation principles are based on the concepts within the Conceptual Framework.

Management is currently assessing the impact of the conceptual framework and the standard on the financial statements.

Asset Retirement Obligations, end of year	$ 298,331	$ 281,893

Tangible capital assets with associated retirement obligations include buildings. The Corporation has asset retirement obligations to remove hazardous asbestos fibre containing materials from various buildings under its control. Regulations require the Corporation to handle and dispose of the asbestos in a prescribed manner when it is disturbed such as when the building undergoes renovations or is demolished. Although timing of the asbestos removal is conditional on the building undergoing renovations or being demolished, regulations create an existing obligation for the Corporation to remove the asbestos when asset retirement activities occur.

Asset retirement obligations are initially measured as of the date the legal obligation was incurred, based on management's best estimate of the amount required to retire tangible capital assets and may be subsequently re-measured at each financial reporting date taking into account any new information and the appropriateness of assumptions used. The estimate of the liability is based on building size (m^2) multiplied by the abatement rate ($$/m^2$) and using historical information from prior capital and maintenance renewal projects.

The extent of the liability is limited to costs directly attributable to the removal of hazardous asbestos fibre containing materials from various buildings under the Corporation's control in accordance with the legally enforceable obligation establishing the liability. The Corporation estimated the nature and extent of hazardous materials in its buildings based on the potential square meters affected and the average costs per square meter to remove and dispose of the hazardous materials.

Included in asset retirement obligation estimates is $298,331 (2024: $281,893) measured at its current estimated cost to settle or otherwise extinguish the liability. The Corporation has measured AROs related to hazardous asbestos fibre containing materials at its current value due to the uncertainty about when the hazardous materials would be removed.

Management's Report

Management's Responsibility for Financial Reporting

The financial statements have been prepared by management in accordance with Canadian public sector accounting standards for all areas except other trust assets under administration. The integrity and objectivity of these statements are management's responsibility. Management is also responsible for all of the notes to the financial statements and schedules, and for ensuring that this information is consistent, where appropriate, with the information contained in the financial statements.

Management is also responsible for implementing and maintaining a system of internal controls to provide reasonable assurance that reliable financial information is produced.

The Public Trustee is responsible for ensuring that management fulfills its responsibilities for financial reporting and internal control and exercises these responsibilities through the Office of the Public Guardian and Trustee.

The Auditor General of Alberta has performed an independent external audit of these financial statements, in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards, and has expressed their opinion in the report that follows. The Auditor General has full and unrestricted access to the financial management of the Office of the Public Guardian and Trustee and meets when required.

I have audited the financial statements of the Office of the Public Guardian and Trustee, Estates and Trusts, which comprise the statement of financial position as at March 31, 2025, and the statements of operations, remeasurement gains and losses, changes in net financial assets, and cash flows for the year then ended, and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In my opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Office of the Public Guardian and Trustee, Estates and Trusts as at March 31, 2025, and the results of its operations, its remeasurement gains and losses, its changes in net financial assets, and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with the accounting policies as described in Note 2 of the financial statements.

Basis for opinion

I conducted my audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. My responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of my report. I am independent of the Office of the Public Guardian and Trustee, Estates and Trusts in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to my audit of the financial statements in Canada, and I have fulfilled my other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. I believe that the audit evidence I have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for my opinion.

Emphasis of matter - basis of accounting

I draw attention to Note 2 of the financial statements, which describes the basis of accounting. The financial statements are prepared to account for assets held in trust under the Public Trustee Act and Public Trustee Investment Regulation. As a result, the financial statements may not be suitable for another purpose. My opinion is not modified in respect of this matter.

Other information

Management is responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the Annual Report, but does not include the financial statements and my auditor's report thereon. The Annual Report is expected to be made available to me after the date of this auditor's report.

My opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and I do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with my audit of the financial statements, my responsibility is to read the other information identified above and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or my knowledge obtained in the audit, or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.

If, based on the work I will perform on this other information, I conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, I am required to communicate the matter to those charged with governance.

Responsibilities of management and those charged with governance for the financial statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with the accounting policies as described in Note 2 of the financial statements, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of the financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Office of the Public Guardian and Trustee, Estates and Trusts' ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless an intention exists to liquidate or to cease operations, or there is no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing the Office of the Public Guardian and Trustee, Estates and Trusts' financial reporting process.

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements

My objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes my opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards, I exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. I also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for my opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Office of the Public Guardian and Trustee, Estates and Trusts' internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Office of the Public Guardian and Trustee, Estates and Trusts' ability to continue as a going concern. If I conclude that a material uncertainty exists, I am required to draw attention in my auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify my opinion. My conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of my auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Office of the Public Guardian and Trustee, Estates and Trusts to cease to continue as a going concern.

- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

I communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that I identify during my audit.

Notes to Financial Statements

Office of the Public Guardian and Trustee Estates and Trusts

Year Ended March 31, 2025

1. AUTHORITY AND PURPOSE

Office of The Public Trustee of Alberta ("Public Trustee") was established in 1949 pursuant to the Public Trustee Act ("the Act") and now operates under the authority of the Public Trustee Act, SA 2004, C.P. 44.1 and other provincial statutes to protect the financial interests of vulnerable Albertans by administering the estates of represented adults, decedents and minors. Effective April 1, 2014, the Office of the Public Trustee merged with the Office of the Public Guardian creating the Office of the Public Guardian and Trustee (OPGT).

The mandate of the Public Trustee is to:

- Administer the property and finances of adults who are incapable of managing their financial affairs;
- Administer the estate of deceased persons;
- Protect property rights of children under eighteen years of age;
- Management of Common Fund.

The Act Section 31(2) requires (with certain exceptions) that the money received by the Public Trustee for a client be paid into the Common Fund. Section 33(3) requires any amount paid into the Common Fund for a client under section 31(2) be credited to the client's guaranteed account (Schedule 1) with the Public Trustee. Section 31(4) of the Act states that no client or other person has any claim to or against the Common Fund except as provided by section 33. Section 33(6) states that the amount outstanding on a client's guaranteed account is a charge against the assets of the Common Fund and is unconditionally guaranteed by the Crown. Section 32(1) of the Act states that assets may be transferred out of the Common Fund only as expressly required or permitted under the Act.

Section 32(2) allows funds to be transferred out of the Common Fund to pay the client, to pay an expense or a liability of the client. Amounts transferred from the Common Fund under section 32(2) are deducted from the client's guaranteed account.

Section 34 of the Act states that the Public Trustee, in accordance with the Public Trustee Investment Regulation (Regulation), sets the interest rate to be credited to client guaranteed accounts.

2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES AND REPORTING PRACTICES

(a) Basis of Financial Reporting

The financial statements have been presented to report on Office of the Public Guardian and Trustee's fiduciary responsibilities in respect of the administration of client trusts and estates and Common Fund as required under the Act and the Public Trustee Investment Regulation.

These financial statements reflect the operations of the Common Fund and the assets held in trust and activity for the estates and trusts administered by Office of the Public Guardian and Trustee (OPGT).

Year Ended March 31, 2025

The operating costs of Office of the Public Guardian and Trustee are paid by the Ministry of Seniors, Community and Social Services. As such, the operating costs are not included in these statements and can be found in the ministry financial information.

All balances except for other trust assets under administration have been prepared in accordance with Canadian Public Sector Accounting Standards. The accounting policies for other trust assets are described in Note 2(c).

(b) Common Fund Investments

Common Fund investments consist of bonds, debentures, mortgages, asset backed securities, shares and Exchange Traded Funds (ETF). The carrying value of all financial instruments included in the Common Fund are measured at cost or fair value. The long term investments, except shares and ETF, are reported at amortized cost less any write-down associated with a loss in value that is other than a temporary decline. Discounts and premiums arising on the purchase of fixed income securities are amortized over the term of the investment. Shares and ETF are stated at fair value determined with reference to quoted market value.

Short-term investments are stated at cost, which approximates fair value.

Forward foreign exchange contracts are valued based on fair value.

Unrealized gains and losses are recorded in the statement of remeasurement gains and losses.

When a financial instrument is derecognized, the cumulative amount of the remeasurement gain or loss previously reported is reversed and the gain or loss on the disposal of units held by the Common Fund is recognized in the statement of operations.

Reporting Entity

These financial statements reflect the assets and liabilities of the Common Fund and estates and trusts under the administration of the Public Guardian and Trustee of Alberta. In addition, these financial statements reflect the annual changes in those assets and liabilities including:

- i) Revenues earned on behalf of clients;
- ii) Income received on behalf of clients;
- iii) New client account additions;
- iv) Released client withdrawals;
- v) Payment made on behalf of clients; and
- vi) Administration fees payable to the Ministry of Seniors, Community and Social Services.

Clients' equity represents funds that are available for distribution to clients or their beneficiaries.

Revenues are recognized in the period in which the transactions or events occurred that gave rise to the revenues. All revenues are recorded on an accrual basis, except when the accruals cannot be determined with a reasonable degree of certainty or when their estimation is impracticable. Amounts not received prior to the year-end are reported as accounts receivable.

Purchase price premiums or discounts are amortized on a straight-line basis over the remaining term of the investment. Realized gains and losses on the disposition of Common Fund investments are recorded on the date of trade of the disposal transaction.

A portion of revenues generated by Common Fund investments are credited to clients' equity. Section 34 of the Act states that the Public Trustee shall set the interest rate for each category of guaranteed accounts in accordance with the Regulation. The interest is calculated on the minimum daily balance of each client's account according to the Regulation and is credited to the client's account monthly. The interest rate as at March 31, 2025 is 2.50% (2024: 2.50%).

Expenses

All expenses are reported on the accrual basis of accounting. The cost of all goods consumed and services received during the year are expensed. Transfers from the Common Fund to the General Revenue Fund, investment management expenses related to the Common Fund investments, and assurance payments are recorded using the accrual basis of accounting with amounts incurred in the fiscal year but not paid prior to year-end are reflected as accounts payable and accrued liabilities.

Administrative Fees

Public Trustee fees on all official guardian (minors) accounts are calculated and collected in the month of the annual anniversary of the opening of the file. Fees are accrued for the period from the anniversary date to March 31 and annually thereafter.

Public Trustee fees for represented adult accounts are calculated and collected annually on the trust's anniversary date. Fees are accrued for the period from the anniversary date to March 31.

Public Trustee fees on decedent accounts are not collected until the trust or account is distributed. Fees are accrued from the period of the date the trust account was opened until March 31 and annually after that.

In addition to the above stated administration fees the Public Trustee may, in accordance with section 40(1)(a) of the Act, charge the client any fee that the Public Trustee deems is reasonable for any service. Under section 40(1)(b), the Public Trustee is entitled to collect from the client any expense reasonably incurred on the client's behalf.

Administration fees paid by the clients to OPGT, with the exception of cost recoveries, are included in the revenues of the Ministry of Seniors, Community and Social Services.

Consists of investment manager, investment advisor and investment custodian fees as well as authorized amounts transferred to clients as per the Act Section 35(1).

Cash and Cash Equivalents in Common Fund

Cash is comprised of cash on hand and demand deposits. Cash equivalents are short-term highly liquid investments that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash and that are subject to an insignificant risk of change in value. Cash equivalents are held for the purpose of meeting short-term commitments rather than for investment purposes.

(c) Other Trust Assets Under Administration

Other trust assets under administration consist of accounts receivable, investments, real property and other assets that are held outside of the Common Fund. Assets acquired through new clients are recorded as direct increases to net assets and not as revenues. When assets are disposed of back to the beneficiary they are removed from net assets and not recorded as an expense.

Accounts Receivable

Accounts receivable consist of mortgages, loans, external bank account balances prior to the transfer to the Public Trustee, pension plans and other benefits and miscellaneous receivables. The accounts receivable are recorded at their estimated fair value.

Clients' Investments Outside of Common Fund

Clients' investments outside of Common Fund consists of retirement plans, registered disability savings plans (RDSPs), guaranteed investment certificates and deposits, Government bonds, shares and other securities. These assets are valued at market value based on the information available at the time OPGT assumes responsibility for the assets.

Subsequently, the cost based approach for investments is considered most appropriate as it is not practical to determine the investment market value. Due to the numerous unique client investments the change in value is not easily measurable and not actively managed by OPGT.

Structured Settlements and Annuities

Structured settlements and annuities are recorded at the present value of their guaranteed term. If there is not a guaranteed term, the settlement or annuity is recorded at a nominal value of $1.

Real Property

Real property consisting of land and buildings are recorded at cost. The cost is considered to be the initially recorded fair value based on the property tax assessments and other information at the time OPGT assumes responsibility for the property.

Amortization is not appropriate considering the properties are held as inventory.

Other Assets

Other assets are stated at amounts determined from information available to OPGT at the date the Trustee assumes responsibility of the assets. Subsequent adjustments are made if additional valuation information is received. If no valuation is available, these assets are recorded at a nominal value of $1.

Clients' Accounts, Mortgages and Loans Payable

Client accounts, mortgages and loans payable represent the administration fees payable to OPGT and the encumbrances of client assets that are payable to independent third parties. These client obligations are settled as client resources become available. In some cases, a client's liabilities exceed the stated value of their assets. These items are included as accounts payable when they have been verified by the creditor and are paid as the resources of the client become available.

Liabilities

All liabilities are recorded at their estimated fair value at the date of assumption of the liability.

The carrying value of all liabilities approximates their fair value.

Net Assets

Net assets represent the difference between the carrying value of assets held by OPGT and its liabilities.

Financial Assets

Financial assets are assets that could be used to discharge existing liabilities or finance future operations or client's equity.

Valuation of Financial Assets and Liabilities

Fair value is the amount of consideration agreed upon in an arm's length transaction between knowledgeable, willing parties who are under no compulsion to act.

The fair values of cash and cash equivalents, interest and dividends receivable, accounts payable, accrued liabilities and clients' accounts are estimated to approximate their carrying values because of the short-term nature of these instruments. Fair values of mortgages and loans payable are not reported due to there being no organized financial market for the instruments and it is not practicable within constraints of timeliness or cost to estimate the fair value with sufficient reliability.

3. MEASUREMENT UNCERTAINTY

Measurement uncertainty exists when there is a variance between the recognized or described amount and another reasonably possible amount. In particular, the fair value of many assets (Note 8) is estimated at the time that OPGT assumes the responsibility for the assets. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amount of assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts revenues and expenses for the reported period. Actual results could differ from management's best estimates as additional information becomes available in the future.

4. BUDGET

Budget amounts have not been disclosed as Public Guardian and Trustee's nature of operations does not provide for relevant budget amounts to be reasonably determined.

(a) Quoted market value of interest bearing securities $517,584 (2024: $500,022) is arrived at using a combination of level one and level two valuation methods.

Fair Value Hierarchy

The table below provides a summary of management's estimate of the relative reliability of data or inputs used by OPGT to measure the fair value of OPGT's investments. The measure of reliability is determined based on the following three levels:

Level One: Fair value is based on unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities traded in active markets. Level one includes primarily traded listed equity investments.

Level Two: Fair value is based on valuation methods that make use of inputs, other than quoted prices included within level one, that are observable by market participation either directly through quoted prices for similar but not identical assets or indirectly through observable market information used in valuation models. Level two primarily includes debt securities and derivative contracts not traded on a public exchange and public equities not traded in an active market. For these investments, fair values are either derived from a number of prices that are provided by independent pricing sources or from pricing models that use observable market data such as swap curves and credit spreads.

Level Three: Fair value is based on valuation methods where inputs that are based on non-observable market data have a significant impact on the valuation. For these investments trading activity is infrequent and fair values are derived using valuation techniques.

Financial Risk Management

OPGT is exposed to financial risks associated with the underlying securities held in the investment funds. These financial risks include credit risk, market risk and liquidity risk. Credit risk relates to the possibility that a loss may occur from the failure of another party to perform according to the terms of a contract. Market risk is comprised of currency risk, interest rate risk and price risk. Liquidity risk is the risk the Fund will not be able to meet its obligations as they fall due.

Common Fund investments are managed in accordance with the Statement of Investment Policies and Goals (SIP&G). The policy and goals are designed to mitigate risks by placing restrictions on the overall content, quality and quantity of permitted investments. Pursuant to the policy and goals, the investments are high quality, highly rated fixed income securities, equity investments in Canadian and foreign currency and mortgages. Exposure to foreign currencies has provided diversification benefits.

OPGT works with an investment advisor and an investment manager that actively manages the asset class allocations based on the policies and goals in the SIP&G. On a quarterly basis, the investment manager provides performance and compliance reports and meets with the Public Guardian and Trustee, the investment advisor and the Investment Advisory Committee.

7. COMMON FUND INVESTMENTS *(continued)a) Credit Risk

Counterparty credit risk is the risk of loss arising from the failure of a counterparty to fully honour its financial obligations with OPGT. The credit quality of financial assets is generally assessed by reference to external credit ratings. Credit risk can also lead to losses when issuers and debtors are downgraded by credit rating agencies usually leading to a fall in the fair value of the counterparty's obligations. Credit risk exposure for financial instruments is measured by the positive fair value of the contractual obligations with counterparties. The fair value of all investments is directly or indirectly impacted by credit risk to some degree. OPGT's investments in debt securities are with counterparties considered to be investment grade.

b) Foreign Currency Risk

OPGT is exposed to foreign currency risk associated with 5.06% (March 31, 2024: 4.92%) of the underlying securities held in the Common Fund investments. Foreign currency risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in foreign exchange rates. OPGT does not hedge its foreign currency exposure with currency forward contracts or any other type of derivative financial instruments. The fair value of investments denominated in foreign currencies is translated into Canadian dollars using the reporting date exchange rate.

c) Interest Rate Risk

OPGT is exposed to interest rate risk associated with the underlying interest-bearing securities held in the investment funds. Interest rate risk relates to the possibility that the fair value of investments will change due to future fluctuations in market interest rates. In general, investment returns from bonds and mortgages are sensitive to changes in the level of interest rates, with longer term interest bearing securities being more sensitive to interest rate changes than shorter-term bonds. If interest rates increased by 1%, and all other variables are held constant, the potential loss in fair value to OPGT would be approximately 2.34% (March 31, 2024: 2.34%) of total investments.

Nil (March 31, 2024: 0.01%) of interest-bearing securities are invested with variable interest rate with minimum interest rate risk exposure.

The following table summarizes the terms to maturity of interest-bearing securities held in pooled investment funds at March 31, 2025.

Class	<1 year	1-5 years	Over 5 years	Average effective market
Interest-bearing securities	20.50%	71.67%	7.82%	3.12%

7. COMMON FUND INVESTMENTS *(continued)d) Price Risk

Price risk relates to the possibility that equity investments will change in fair value due to future fluctuations in market prices caused by factors specific to an individual equity investment or other factors affecting all equities traded in the market. OPGT is exposed to price risk associated with the underlying equity investments held in investment funds. If equity market indices (S&P/TSX, S&P500, S&P1500 and MSCI ACWI and their sectors) declined by 10%, and all other variables are held constant, the potential loss in fair value to OPGT would be approximately -0.73% (March 31, 2024: -0.75%) of total investments.

e) Liquidity Risk

Liquidity risk arises if OPGT should encounter difficulty in meeting obligations associated with its financial liabilities. Liquidity requirements of OPGT are met through income generated from investments, clients' revenues and by investing in publicly traded liquid assets traded in active market that are easily sold and converted to cash. These sources of cash are used to pay clients' obligations, their operating expenses and settle clients' final payments associated with the termination of OPGT's responsibilities towards clients.

OPGT currently has minimal liquidity risk.

Estate administration fees charged to clients' accounts, with the exception of cost recoveries, are included in the revenues of the Ministry of Seniors, Community and Social Services.

The Public Trustee Act states that unclaimed property must be held for at least ten years from the date of an order declaring the person to be missing or after the date that the Public Trustee publishes a notice in The Alberta Gazette. After ten years of inactivity, trust balances held by the OPGT may be transferred to the Ministry of Seniors, Community and Social Services. For the year ended March 31, 2025 the amount transferred was $1,546 (2024: $292) and appears on these financial statements as part of the Cash Distributions to Clients, Beneficiaries and Heirs.

The operating costs of the Public Trustee portion of OPGT are included in the financial information of the Ministry of Seniors, Community and Social Services. For the year ended March 31, 2025, the operating costs are $14,180 (2024: $13,070).

12. CONTINGENT LIABILITIES

(in thousands)

The Public Trustee is involved in legal matters where damages are being sought. These matters may give rise to contingent liabilities. The Public Trustee clients have been named in one (2024: three) claims of which the outcome is not determinable. The claims have a specified amount of Nil (2024: Nil). Included in the total claims, Nil (2024: Nil) is covered in whole or in part by the Alberta Risk Management Fund. The resolution of indeterminable claims may result in a liability, if any, that may be significantly lower than the claimed amount.

13. CONTINGENT ASSETS

(in thousands)

The Public Trustee initiated legal matters where possible assets are being sought. The outcomes from these matters will likely result in recognition of assets. These amounts have not been recognized in the financial statements.

The Public Trustee was involved in 19 (2024: 29) lawsuits which will likely give rise to the recovery of assets. Of these lawsuits, 13 (2024: 18) have an estimated amount ranging from $4.9 to $500 (2024: from $4 to $200). Six (2024: 11) lawsuits have no amount specified. The nature of claims are personal injury, estate and family law.

14. FUTURE CHANGES IN ACCOUNTING STANDARDS

The Public Sector Accounting Board has approved the following accounting standards, which are effective for fiscal years starting on or after April 1, 2026:

- The Conceptual Framework for Financial Reporting in the Public Sector
This Conceptual Framework is the foundation for public sector financial reporting standard setting. It replaces the conceptual aspects of Section PS 1000 Financial Statement Concepts and Section PS 1100 Financial Statement Objectives. The conceptual framework highlights considerations fundamental for the consistent application of accounting issues in the absence of specific standards.
- PS 1202 Financial Statement Presentation
Section PS 1202 sets out general and specific requirements for the presentation of information in general purpose financial statements. The financial statement presentation principles are based on the concepts within the Conceptual Framework.

Management is currently assessing the impact of the conceptual framework and the standard on the Estates and Trusts financial statements.

15. COMPARATIVE FIGURES

Certain 2024 figures have been reclassified, where necessary, to conform to the 2025 presentation.

Notes:

(1) As per "Expense Vote by Program," "Capital Investment Vote by Program" and "Financial Transactions Vote by Program" pages 191-193 of the 2024-25 Government Estimates. The Restated Voted Estimate column reflects the adjustments to supply vote amounts provided to the department by the Designation and Transfer of Responsibility Regulations under Order in Council 384/2024 passed on December 12, 2024.

(2) Adjustments include encumbrances, capital carry over amounts, transfers between votes, credit or recovery increases approved by Treasury Board, and credit or recovery shortfalls. An encumbrance is incurred when, on a vote-by-vote basis, the total of actual disbursements in the prior year exceed the total adjusted estimate. All calculated encumbrances from the prior year are reflected as an adjustment to reduce the corresponding voted estimate in the current year.

Adjustments also include supply vote transfers for "Contingency" as approved by the Lieutenant Governor in Council under the direction of the Minister of Finance. The Contingency supply vote consists of a provisional funding authority transferable to any ministry. Upon approval by the Lieutenant Governor in Council, the President of Treasury Board and Minister of Finance may either spend or transfer all or a portion of this supply vote to another minister for public emergencies, disasters or unanticipated costs. On March 26, 2025, the department received a transfer from Contingency under Order in Council 058/2025 for $209,300,000.

(3) Actuals exclude non-voted amounts as no cash disbursement is required (non-cash amounts), or because the Legislative Assembly has already provided the funding authority pursuant to a statute other than an appropriation act. Non-cash amounts (such as amortization, accretion, valuation adjustments, and other provisions) are excluded as these amounts do not require any expenditure or payment of public money. Year-end expense accruals & payables which will immediately require a cash outlay (payment of public money) to settle or otherwise extinguish the liabilities are included in Actuals.

Trust Funds Under Administration (unaudited)

In thousands

The ministry administers trust funds that are regulated and other funds consisting of public money over which the legislature has no power of appropriation. As the ministry has no equity in the funds and administers them for the purpose of various trusts, they are not included in the ministry’s financial statements.

At March 31, 2025, the trust funds under administration were as follows:

	2025 Actual	2024 Actual
Office of the Public Guardian and Trustee Estates and Trusts	$ 685,942	$ 667,217
Persons with Developmental Disabilities Clients Trust Funds	127	136
	$ 686,069	$ 667,353

Annual Report Extracts and Other Statutory Reports

Public Interest Disclosure (Whistleblower Protection) Act

Section 32 of the Public Interest Disclosure (Whistleblower Protection) Act reads:

- 32(1) Every chief officer must prepare a report annually on all disclosures that have been made to the designated officer of the department, public entity or office of the Legislature for which the chief officer is responsible.
- (2) The report under subsection (1) must include the following information:
- (a) the number of disclosures received by the designated officer, the number of disclosures acted on and the number of disclosures not acted on by the designated officer;
 - (b) the number of investigations commenced by the designated officer as a result of disclosures;
 - (c) in the case of an investigation that results in a finding of wrongdoing, a description of the wrongdoing and any recommendations made or corrective measures taken in relation to the wrongdoing or the reasons why no corrective measure was taken.
- (3) The report under subsection (1) must be included in the annual report of the department, public entity or office of the Legislature if the annual report is made publicly available.

There were no disclosures of wrongdoing filed with my office, for your department, between April 1, 2024 and March 31, 2025.
